TIEN TSIN SCENE OF RESTLESSNESS.

Anticipated Recrudescence of Looting Fails to Occur.

Riotous Element Intimidated by Action of the Foreign Consuls.

TIEN TSIN, March 4.—Although the foreign troops stationed here were not able to patrol the city, the anticipated recrudescence of looting and incendiarism, such as happened last night, did not occur today. A feeling of restlessness, however, prevails and all trade is at a standstill. Such stores as were not looted last night are keeping up their shutters. The pawnshops have been hitherto the principal sufferers from the outbreak, scarcely any of them escaping the attention of the looters, although some time ago their proprietors, fearing disturbances, bricked up the doors and windows.

The measures taken by the foreign consuls and commanders of the troops of various nations stationed here have evidently intimidated the riotous element of the population and the mutinous soldiers. The buildings connected with the railroad and the warehouses belonging to foreign firms are guarded by strong detachments of foreign troops. Generally speaking, foreign property has not suffered but in the native city there has been a great deal of destruction.

The railway from here to Pekin is open and the trains today have not been molested. Ruin is to be seen in every important thoroughfare and some incinerated corpses lie about the streets. There have been several more executions. Proclamations are being posted up all over the city, ordering the inhabitants to remain indoors after 8 o'clock at night and stating that martial law is in force.

Two companies of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers have been ordered to remain at Feng Tai, on the railroad to Pekin, where the British troops yesterday formed with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets in order to resist a large body of Chinese soldiers who threatened to hold up the train. The incident was a very critical one and ended by the arrival of 700 men of the Inniskilling Fusiliers, which caused the mutineers to retire. Five companies of the Inniskillings are returning here from Feng Tai.

Considerable excitement was caused this afternoon by telephonic reports from the Russian consul stating that 700 Chinese soldiers had entered the village of Tachi, only a mile distant from the foreign concessions. This was a violation of the protocol conditions, forbidding Chinese troops to approach within a radius of seven miles. Consequently the foreign military commanders decided upon joint action to turn out the Chinese soldiers. Detachments of British, French, German, Russian and Japanese troops were mustered and carried out a reconnaissance, but found that no Chinese troops had arrived at Tchi. Precautions have now been taken for the immediate detection of their arrival.

MORE FORCES FOR TIEN TSIN.

Troops Leave Shanghai on Cruiser Cincinnati and Collier Abarenda.

SHANGHAI, China, March 4.—A detachment of 200 United States marines has been ordered to sail from here tomorrow on board United States collier Abarenda, to re-inforce the United States troops at Tien Tsin. United States cruiser Cincinnati is also leaving for Tien Tsin at the same time.

MANILA TO FURNISH MEN.

American Minister to China to Call Them More Troops if Needed.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Arrangements were made here today whereby Mr. Calhoun, the American minister to China, may get 700 additional troops by telegraphing directly to Manila, should they be needed. He was today instructed to do this, after consultation with his diplomatic colleagues in Pekin. If at any time in his judgment he considered it would be better to have a few more American soldiers at Pekin, Tien Tsin, or along the railway from Pekin to the sea.

FOREIGN PROPERTY SAFE.

Methodist Board of Missions Receives News of Trouble at Tien Tsin.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The following despatch from Tien Tsin was received this morning by the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions: "There have been serious disturbances in Tien Tsin. The native city has been much damaged by fire. The foreign concessions are quiet and foreign property is safe. All are well here. The mission stations in Pekin, Chang Li and Paotsin are safe, according to last accounts."

LOOTING GOING ON IN PEKIN.

Manchus Said to Have Restored Order Throughout the Capital.

LONDON, March 4.—Reports from Pekin received at Tien Tsin show that there is some looting going on in the Chinese capital. According to a news agency despatch received from Tien Tsin today, the Manchus who are acting as military police in Pekin, had succeeded at 2 o'clock this afternoon in restoring comparative order and the city generally was quiet. Artillery firing was, however, heard today to the south of the city.

PANIC AT TSITSIKAR.

Fighting Going on Among Chinese Army and Expeditionary Corps.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—Fighting between the soldiers of the Chinese regular army and members of an expeditionary corps has occurred at Tsitsikar, in Manchuria, according to advices received here from that city today. Many were killed and wounded. The first outbreak started in a theatre and was later continued in the streets until it became a regular can-

RHODE ISLAND OUT STRONG FOR TAFT.

Republican State Central Committee Endorses Him.

State and District Conventions Called for April 24.

(Special despatch to The News.)

PROVIDENCE, March 4.—The Republican state central committee, at its meeting this morning, unanimously passed resolutions endorsing the renomination and re-election of William H. Taft to the office of President of the United States. It appointed a general committee, not confined to the membership of the state central committee, to consider the situation in Warwick and report whether it is better to make a city out of the large and widely scattered town, or to divide it into two towns, and how that division should best be made.

The committee voted to hold the state and district conventions for the election of delegates to the Republican national convention in Providence, Wednesday, April 24. There will be four conventions, the state at 10 o'clock, the First district at 11:30, the Second district at 12 and the Third district at 12:30.

The Congressional district committees met and organized as follows:

First district—Chairman, George B. Lawton of Tiverton; secretary, John B. Mitchell of Providence.

Second district—President—J. Ellery Hudson of Coventry; secretary, John W. Sweeney of Westerly.

Third district—President, Oscar A. Reinhold of Woonsocket; secretary, Isaac Gill of Pawtucket.

Frank W. Tillinghast of Johnston presented resolutions relative to the death of Associate Justice John Taggard Blodgett of the supreme court and they were unanimously passed.

A committee to take charge of the situation in Warwick and report whether it is advisable to divide the town into two or make a city of it was appointed as follows: Frank W Tillinghast of Johnston, George B. Waterhouse of Warwick, Walter G. Hartford of Warwick William C. Bliss of East Providence, Edward E. Arnold of Coventry, Samuel L. Peck of Warren, Clark Burdick of Newport.

The following are the resolutions endorsing the re-election of President Taft, which were introduced by Frank W. Tillinghast of Johnston and passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That we express our emphatic conviction that the promotion of the peace, prosperity and progress of our nation will be best served by the re-nomination and re-election of President Taft.

"That we regard this action deserved on account of every consideration that relates to the public welfare as well every sentiment which makes for square dealing between man and man, and which should, upon all principles of loyalty, be binding upon all those who invited President Taft to undertake the responsibilities of his high office, which he has so ably and efficiently fulfilled.

"And we commend and endorse his courageous and progressive action in the discharge of his public duties, which has resulted in most beneficial results to the whole people."

THEIR WAGES DEDUCTED.

Employes of Three Coal Mines in Bochum, Germany, Strike.

BOCHUM, Germany, March 4.—A miners' strike, which was totally unexpected and which had not been ordered by the Miners' Union, broke out in three mines here today, the men leaving work because, as they assert, unjustified deductions had been made from their wages.

The incident is regarded as a grave one, since it is feared that it may precipitate a general strike of miners on the question of wages, which the leaders of the Miners' Union and the mine owners are just now endeavoring to prevent, in order to take advantage of the British coal strike. The executive committee of the National Miners' Federation has issued a proclamation censuring the strikers for committing a breach of discipline, by leaving work without the consent of the union. The proclamation orders the men to resume work, but there is great apprehension that the situation will get beyond control.

COAL MARKET PRICES RISE.

Foreign Steamship Companies Buy Supply in and Around New York.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The strike in the British coal fields has caused heavy purchases here of practically all the available supplies of soft coal in the coal ports in and near New York and at Philadelphia and Baltimore, in order to meet the needs of the foreign steamship companies using the Atlantic seaboard. Local coal market prices for immediate and prompt deliveries have risen sharply in consequence. It is planned to load steamships with a double quantity of coal here, so that round trip voyages from this side may be completed with American coal. The space on shipboard taken up by this double quantity of coal necessarily limits to that extent space for general cargo.

STEAMERS REPORTED.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Finland from Antwerp and Dover for New York, 677 miles east of Sandy Hook at 11 p. m. March 3, will dock about 8:30 a. m. Wednesday.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Ryndam from Rotterdam and Boulogne for New York, 590 miles east of Sandy Hook at 5:20 a. m., will dock about 8:30 a. m. Wednesday.

CAPE RACE, Newfoundland, March 4, Oceanic from Southampton etc., for New York, 1,280 miles east of Sandy Hook at 1:56 p. m. March 3, will dock about 5:30 p. m. Wednesday.

CAPE RACE, Newfoundland, March 4. President Lincoln, from Hamburg etc., for New York, 1,315 miles east of Sandy Hook at 11:50 a. m., March 3, will dock about 8:30 a. m. Friday

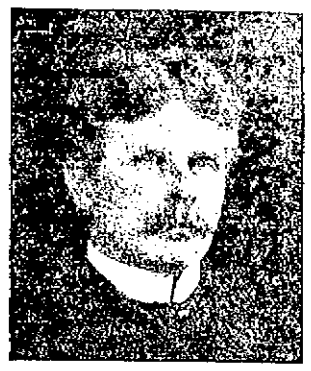

FOR TWELVE YEARS ON SUPREME BENCH

Death of Judge John T. Blodgett of the High Court.

Long a Prominent Figure in Legal and Official Circles.

PROVIDENCE, March 4.—John Taggard Blodgett, associate justice of the Rhode Island supreme court for 12 years, died at his home today, after a protracted illness. He was 53 years old.

John Taggard Blodgett was born in Belmont, Mass., May 16, 1859, a son of William Alfred and Anna Maria (Taggard) Blodgett, his father having been prominent in the wholesale iron business. He received his early education in the schools of Belmont and of Watertown, graduating from the Watertown high school in 1875 and spending one year at Worcester Academy.

JUDGE JOHN T. BLODGETT.

In the autumn of 1876 he entered Brown University and was graduated from that institution in the class of 1880. Among the members of his class were President William H. P. Faunce of Brown University, Mr. Walter F. Angell of the law firm of Edwards & Angell of Providence, Zechariah Chafee, treasurer of the Builders' Iron Foundry of Providence, Judge Samuel W. Smith of Cincinnati, Judge James Austin, Jr., of Toledo, Augustus N. Abbott of St. Louis, Dr. J. Lee Richmond, the famous base ball player of 30 years ago, and others well known throughout the country. Benjamin F. Thurston and Fred M. Hammett of this city were also members of the class.

Mr. Blodgett, after graduation studied law in the office of Benjamin N. Lapham in Providence and was admitted to practice in 1882. Two years later he was admitted to the United States courts and in 1885 to the United States court of appeals. He was United States commissioner in 1890 and in 1891 was appointed chief supervisor of federal elections in Rhode Island and held that position until 1897, when he became chairman of the board of registration and canvassers in Providence. He was a representative from Providence in the General Assembly in 1898, 1899 and 1900, and as a member of the judiciary committee was in a large measure responsible for the laws placed on the statute books during that time. In May, 1900, he was elected an associate justice of the superior and supreme court of Rhode Island and served in that capacity until the courts were separated and he became a member of the supreme court bench. With the exception of Chief Justice Edward C. Dubois he was the oldest in term of service of any of the members of the higher court benches of the state.

In addition to his political and judicial services Judge Blodgett had held other important official positions, including that of commissioner revise the ward lines of the city of Providence and that of commissioner from Rhode Island to the Jamestown exposition. He was a member of the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Sons of the Revolution, the Phi Beta Kappa of Brown University and of to University, Agawam and Hope clubs of Providence.

Judge Blodgett married, first, Miss Amelia Wilson Torrey of Providence and, second, Miss Amy DeLacy Bemis of Richmond, Va. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, a graduate of the Women's College of Brown University, who is now pursuing advanced studies in Europe.

Judge Blodgett was well known in Newport, where he formerly presided at sessions of the superior court, and among the Brown graduates. He was held in high esteem for his personal qualities and his legal attainments.

SUFFRAGETTES AGAIN BUSY.

Band Armed With Stones and Hammers Cause Damage in West End.

LONDON, March 4.—The suffragettes started operations again early today. A small band of them armed with hammers and stones went through the Knightsbridge and Brompton road district, in the West End of London, breaking the plate glass windows of the big dry goods stores in that district. As usual, owing to the disturbance being unexpected, the police on duty in the district were unable to cope with the suffragettes, who were distributed over a wide area. The storekeepers and their staffs of employes were compelled to do sentry duty in the front of their premises, but in many cases were unable to keep the women from doing damage. In one store alone damage to the extent of $1,250 was done.

A detachment of mounted police was the first re-inforcement to arrive on the scene. One of them was immediately dragged from his horse by excited women.

Thirty women were arrested.

The windows of the Marquis of Crewe's and the Lord Chancellor's residences were smashed with hammers.

Elsie Pirfield, the suffragette who attempted to set fire to the general postoffice [illegible] evening, was today [illegible] by a magistrate for trial at the Old Bailey sessions.

Large Attendance at Funeral Service for Miss Bertha S. Hicks at St. Paul's Church.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Sunday afternoon the funeral of Miss Bertha S. Hicks, elder daughter of Captain and Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks of Bristol Ferry, took place from St. Paul's Church, of which she was a communicant. It was conducted by Rev. Anson B. Howard, assisted by Rev. J. Sturgis Pearce, and consisted simply of the burial service of the church. There was a large attendance, more than 200 being present, coming from Boston, Providence, Hartford, Fall River, New Bedford, Barrington, Malden, Fall River, Newport, Tiverton, Portsmouth and elsewhere.

The floral tributes were unusual in beauty and number. A double row of set pieces extended the entire length of the altar, with large groups at each end, and the casket was covered. She was a member of St. Paul's Guild and of Colonel William Barton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The former sent a cluster of 34 pink roses and the latter a basket of pinks. The pupils of the Barrington High School, where she had been "center teacher" for five years previous to last June; the teachers of the school and pupils and friends from other places where she formerly taught sent flowers and in several instances came to the funeral, among them the superintendent of the Barrington schools.

Miss Hicks had been an unusually healthy woman until about Christmas a year ago, when a persistent cough followed a bronchial attack and it was with difficulty that she completed the spring term. Teaching so near her home, she usually spent Saturdays and Sundays with her parents at Bristol Ferry, and it was not until midwinter that serious alarm was felt for her condition. Then began a struggle in which the best medical aid in the country was invoked, but without avail, although it no doubt greatly prolonged her life. She made friends wherever she was known, for she was not only attractive in personality but in the qualities of heart and mind which secure strong friendships.

The interment was in St. Paul's churchyard, the bearers being Frederick P. Hicks, Walter B. Chase, Herbert B. Ashley and Frank W. Wheeler.

The second Sunday in Lent was observed at St. Mary's by the litany, the singing of the penitential office, Sermon, and the administration of the Holy Communion by Rev. H. Newman Lawrence, the subject of whose sermon was "Zaccheus, the man who wanted to see Christ." The musical program was: Prelude, Berceuse, Godard; processional, Dykes; litany hymn, Spanish Chant; litany responses, Ferial; Kyrie Eleison, R. Redhead; Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi, R. Redhead; hymn before sermon, Croft; offertory anthem, "I will mention the loving kindness of the Lord;" at presentation of alms, Humfrey; sanctus and Agnus Dei, R. Redhead; Gloria in Excelsis, Uglow; hymn during ablution, Monk; recessional, Dykes; postlude, Wedding March, Mendelssohn.

Rev. James M. Estes, pastor of the Friends' Church, took for his text Sunday morning, St. John 1:4.

Rev. John Wadsworth of the Methodist Episcopal Church took his text Sunday morning from Romans VI:23. In the evening his text was Matthew XVI:26.

At the Christian Church Rev. Albert Loucks preached from Matthew XVII:1-2, his subject being "The Transfiguration of Christ."

At St. Paul's Sunday morning Rev. Anson B. Howard spoke from Matthew, IV:3. The offertory anthem was "There is a green hill."

Miss Reginald C. Vanderbilt is expected at Sandy Point farm for a short visit before he goes abroad, which will be soon. His mother, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, made brief visits to both Sandy Point and "Oakland" last week.

Miss Harriet Wheeler came from Providence, R. I., where she is teaching, to attend the funeral of Miss Bertha S. Hicks, who was an intimate friend.

Mrs. Alber C. Loucks and her son of North Dighton accompanied Rev. Mr. Loucks to Portsmouth on Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. White.

Mrs. Deforest Macomber of Newport is visiting her sister, Mrs. John T. Brownell.

Mr. Carlton Daniels returned to Wakefield Sunday, after a visit of 10 days with his mother.

Miss Alida Sleeper of Providence is visiting her sisters, Mrs. B. P. Sherman and Miss Mary Sleeper.

Many flatfish are being caught.

Miss Caroline J. Parker, youngest sister of Messrs. Emerson, Richmond and Ernest Bishop has arrived from New Brunswick. She will be guest of the two first named while here.

WISE PLANTING WILL HELP SHORTAGE IN POTATOES.

[Farm and Fireside.]

Not in years has this country had so serious a shortage in potatoes as at present; in many cities and towns they are retailed at present from $1 to $1.20 per bushel. Maine, usually a state exporting thousands of bushels of tubers, is herself importing them from Scotland. What will it mean at planting time? Apparently they will sell very high in price. My endeavor here will be to show how a maximum yield may be grown from a minimum of seed planted. Government as well as state tests have proven that larger yields may be expected from cut than from whole tubers planted. Upon the size and not the number merely depends the yield per acre, one gets from the potato crop. By planting whole tubers, from four to 12 or more stalks usually appear. Three to five stalks to a hill, while not producing perhaps as many potatoes as eight or more, will, while yielding a smaller quantity, grow them to a much larger size, and eventually the weight and consequently the yield will be more, much more, from the former than from the latter.

While the price of seed has never determined my method of planting, in years of plenty or scarcity I plant rather sparingly, preferring good sized, marketable potatoes to cuts and I mark at digging time. I aim to cut seed from medium to large sized tubers if they are smooth and conform to the type of variety planted and never use small, undesirable potatoes for seed. It doesn't pay. The seed pieces are cut as near as can be so that one eye only appears on each piece, and if planted in hills, after the seed has been thoroughly stirred to mix them promiscuously; two eyes pieces only are planted in each hill, and if in drills, they are dropped approximately 14 inches apart in the row. Three to four bushels of good tubers properly cut should be enough to plant one acre, from which, on good ground, I have dug 250 bushels, and 500 can get under 200 bushels per acre here in Michigan, and this is not considered the potato region of the state. With potatoes so high in price, I feel confident that those who will give the above a fair trial will benefit.

DWARF RAILROADS.

Some Lines in the United States Are Less Than Eight Miles Long.

Found in Mining and Scenic Sections, They Climb Otherwise Impossible Mountains.

[Railroad Man's Magazine.]

Of the 1,180 railroads in the United States 180 are less than eight miles long. Of these only 29 are more than seven miles in length, while 25 just reach that distance. Eighteen are six miles long, 10 cover five miles, 16 run four miles, 25 three miles, 19 two miles and eight are a single mile from end to end.

Every part of the country furnishes specimens of these dwarf roads. They are found in mining districts and scenic sections; they are the handy helpers around industrial plants and terminal centres; they climb mountains that would be impossible otherwise.

The Johnstown & Stony Creek railroad, which is only a mile long, connects with the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio in Pennsylvania at the two points named in its title. Freight is the specialty of the road, and in the two years of its existence it is said to have made a very satisfactory financial return to its owners.

Ever hear of the Duo West Railroad? No? Well, it's hardly to be wondered at, seeing that it's scarcely three miles long and stowed in an out-of-the-way corner of South Carolina. Yet it has a unique history of its own. The road runs from the town of Duo West to Dowell. Its construction was the outcome of the craving of the inhabitants of Duo West for easy transportation to Dowell. So the people of Duo West, in the name of their town, issued 11,000 of railroad aid bonds on behalf of the construction of the line, which was opened for traffic in 1908.

The road was a financial success from the start and is comfortably paying its way. It has neither debts nor bonds of its own, in which respect it is almost without parallel in railroad history. The total cost of the construction of the road and its equipment, including its two locomotives, one passenger and one baggage car, is said to have been less than $50,000.

One mile is the length of the Indiana & Northern railroad that connects Myler with South Bend, Ind. It has been in operation since 1891, and is a vest-pocket corporation of a flourishing sort, having no funded or other debts. Small as it is, it is of considerable importance as a belt line, for its the connecting link between the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Grand Trunk Western, the Vandalia, the Michigan Central, and the Central Indiana & Southern railroads. All the stock is held by a manufacturing corporation of South Bend. Last year it paid $5,000 in dividends, its net earnings being $7,000.

Mary Lee is the sentimental name of a little freight railroad that runs between East Birmingham and Boyles, Ala., a distance of seven miles. It connects with the Queen & Crescent route, Southern railroad and the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Mary according to published balance sheets, is a paying proposition.

Fulton Chain railroad is only two miles in length, but this Lilliputian line has brought enjoyment to thousands of summer vacationists. It runs from Fulton Chain to Old Forge, N. Y., and is operated by the New York Central lines mainly in connection with the hot weather traffic. Last year it carried 53,070 passengers; its net earnings were $6,013, and it had the comfortable little surplus of $13,341 tucked away in its teans.

The Granite City & East St. Louis Terminal railroad has been paying a five per cent dividend for several years. It is a subsidiary road, rented for an indefinite number of years by the St. Louis Merchants Bridge & Terminal railroad. The tracks are less than two miles in length.

One of the most prosperous of the little fellows is the Lake Champlain & Morisn railroad, that runs from Port Henry to Mineville, N. Y., a distance of between seven and eight miles. In 1910 its net earnings were $51,000, and this year, so it is claimed, that amount will be greatly surpassed. It was opened in 1869, so that it is quite an old timer. It has six locomotives, three passenger cars and 326 ore cars. It is operated almost entirely in connection with the iron mines of Mineville. Last year it moved 626,630 tons of freight. Its surplus is $128,309. Not so bad for a dwarf road.

Public interest in the work of the Tuskegee Institute, Ala., of which Booker T. Washington is founder and president, to a very great extent is explanatory of the present prosperity of the Tuskegee railroad. This road runs from Chehaw, Ala., to the institute, a distance of about six miles. It has only two locomotives, one passenger and one mail and express car, yet in 1910 it earned net $30,778, carried 24,827 passengers and paid a dividend of 14 per cent.

But the little road has had its troubles. It was incorporated in 1850; was re-organized in 1871, after its public sale for debt; chartered in 1902, and opened for traffic about a year later. Between its incorporation and its first operation its history is that of tedious and intricate litigation.

The picturesquely titled Yreka Railroad of California links the town of that name with Montague, the distance between the two points being less than eight miles. Its rolling stock consists of two engines, two freight and two passenger cars. The road makes a profit. In 1910 it carried 24,941 passengers; its net earnings were $3,269 an dits surplus $535.

The Otis railroad is away up in the Catskill mountains in New York, and is used to carry summer visitors to Otis Summit, which is all that its name implies. When vacation time is on this six-mile road an dits transportation facilities are pretty well strained. It connects with the Catskill mountain and the Cairo railroads. It has one stationary engine, two passenger and two luggage cars. Last year the net earnings of the little road were $7,061.

Fishermen and sportsmen know of the Adirondack & St. Lawrence railroad, running from Hermon to De Kalb Junction, N. Y., a distance of five and a half miles. It is controlled by the St. Lawrence Pyrites Company. In spite of the fact that its little right of way is pretty well patronized at certain times of the year, it doesn't seem to be very flourishing, according to its published balance sheets. Yet in 1910 it carried 18,415 passengers, keeping busy its two locomotives and two passenger and express cars.

Meet Me at Barnes's

Music is a Tonic

Prescribed for and used by nearly all as a sure cure for that "down and out" feeling. We listen to music because we like it—but how much more enjoyment we derive when we produce the music to which we listen. When we ourselves perform—we express our own thoughts in our own style through our own choice of music.

Maybe your sister plays piano, or your brother the mandolin—but you?—Are you the member of the family who boasts of not playing any instrument? If you are, you're the one who does not know a great pleasure—that of producing and enjoying your own music.

May we show you our line of violins, mandolins or guitars? There are many other instruments to see, also, if you'll stop in our store.

GEORGE SLESMAN SCOTT.

Summer Resident of Newport Dies in New York from Complication of Diseases.

Mr. George Slesman Scott, a retired banker of New York and a summer resident of Newport for nearly 20 years, died Saturday at his residence in New York, from a complication of diseases. He was here last summer, but was then ill and went out but little.

From the days of the Civil war until he left active business life, 20 or more years ago, Mr. Scott was a prominent figure in finance, and through all the vast operations of Commodore Vanderbilt was his principal broker. The Wall Street house of Scott, Cuyler & Co., later Scott, Sturgis & Co., of which Mr. Scott was the head, was one of the few large banking firms of the day which survived the panic of 1873.

Mr. Scott was active in the solidification of various transportation lines of the South into the nucleus of what is now the Southern railway system. He was president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and associated with the First National Bank of New York when it obtained control of the Richmond & Danville railroad. He was made president of that railroad company and later of the Richmond & West Point Terminal & Warehouse Company.

Mr. Scott was also at one time active in yachting, being the first commodore of the American Yacht Club and a member of the New York Yacht Club, owning at various times schooner yacht Restless and steam yachts Lurline, Viking and Stranger.

At his death he was a member of the Union, Metropolitan, Tuxedo and Riding clubs, the Metropolitan Museum of Natural History and the Sons of the Revolution of New York and of the Newport Reading Room.

Mr. Scott in 1892 purchased a tract of land on the corner of Bellevue and Ruggles avenues and erected a cottage there, known as "Belmead," which he had occupied practically every summer since 1893. He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Anna Augusta Isham of Cincinnati; two sons, George I. and Charles H. Scott, and three daughters, Mrs. Scott Grant, Miss Louise and Miss Mimi Scott.

Mr. Scott was born in Chillicothe, Ohio, January 2d, 1837, his father having been John C. Scott of Strawberry Vale, Fairfax county, Virginia.

FOR BISHOP-ELECT DOWLING.

Alumni of the Tyler School in Providence Tender Reception and Wish Him Success.

The alumni of the Tyler school tendered a reception to Rev. Austin Dowling, bishop-elect of Des Moines, Iowa, in Providence, Sunday afternoon. Many of the graduates of the institution taking advantage of the opportunity to wish Father Dowling success. A well selected program was presented, following which Father Dowling, Rev. Peter E. Blessing, rector of the Cathedral, and Rev. John Toohey spoke telling of the success which has come through the efforts of the teachers. The three priests also praised the fundamental principles of the Alumni Association in urging and perpetuating the spirit inculcated by their instructors.

Father Dowling's coming departure to Des Moines was feelingly spoken of by Miss McArdle, president of the Queen's Daughters, at their monthly meeting last week in the Cathedral assembly room. Father Dowling has been moderator of the society since its organization. Miss McArdle spoke of him as founder, counsellor and friend." She voiced the sentiments of those present when she asserted that the joy experienced in his elevation to the bishopric of Des Moines was wholly submerged in sorrow in his loss.

FATHER DEADY SOMEWHAT IMPROVED.

Rev. Louis J. Deady of the Sacred Heart parish, Pawtucket, formerly of St. Joseph's Church of this city, has been seriously ill at his home in that city. At one time late last week his condition caused considerable anxiety among his parishioners, but later a turn for the better came. About a month ago Father Deady went to Atlantic City for the benefit of his health and on his return seemed improved, but was again taken ill and for a while his condition was such as to alarm his friends.

WORK IN THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.

Men Traveling About on Snow Shoes for Study of Forested Area.

United States Geological Survey Seeking to Determine Relation of Lands to Stream Flow.

United States Geological Survey men have been occupying winter quarters in the White mountains of New Hampshire and traveling about on snow shoes in the prosecution of investigations looking toward the purchase by the national government of lands under the Weeks act. The studies which the survey engineers are making of this forested area are being carried on with an accuracy which has never before been attempted, the object being to determine at the earliest possible date the relation of forest lands in the White Moutain region to stream flow. This is necessary to enable the National Forest Reservation Commission to consider the purchase of New Hampshire lands by the federal government, under the terms of the Weeks act, which provides that before any lands are purchased they "shall be examined by the geological survey and a report made to the Secretary of Agriculture showing that the control of such lands will promote or protect navigation of streams on whose watersheds they lie."

The people of New England, whose representatives in Congress took a prominent part in the passage of this law, have shown great interest in the practical results which the act promises to accomplish. White Mountain lands have been offered for sale to the government are favorably considered by the Secretary of Agriculture, and the geological survey is engaged in the examination thereof required by the law.

More investigation and discrimination is required to show that the control of any particular area will beneficially affect the flow of the stream into which it drains than is usually conceded by those who believe that the principles involved are well established. There has been and is a difference of opinion among observers in regard to the effects of forests in regulating stream flow. Some well intentioned persons contend that no such effects exist, while those who support the principle have up to the present time been unable to produce statistics that adequately substantiate their contentions. A real important difference exists between a belief that forests exert a steadying effect upon stream flow and the definite showing of this effect as required by the "Weeks act; moreover, this showing must as Congressman Weeks declared in his speech on the floor of the House, be made on "findings of fact."

In its investigation of the problem the geological survey makes observations along two lines. The first is the observation and measurement of soil wash, or erosion, which in many parts of the country takes place after forests have been cut away. The silt sand and boulders that are thus dislodged are washed into the streams and eventually reach the navigable portions of the rivers below. The second is the observation of the comparative uniformity of flow in the streams that drain forested and deforested areas, it being evident that the best condition of a river for purposes of navigation is "that in which the floods are reduced to a minimum, and in which the stage during the dry seasons is maintained at the highest possible point.

Evidence concerning soil waste can be secured by ocular examination and no prolonged investigation is required. This explains why the survey was able to report promptly and favorably on designated areas in the southern Appalachian region, where the erosion resulting from forest fires is exceedingly rapid and destructive. In the White Mountain region, however, geologic conditions are such that there is no destructive soil wastage following deforestation or fires. In the hope that some evidence of this kind might be found on close examination as a result of which prompt reports might be made concerning lands offered for sale there, the director of the survey assigned A. C. Spencer, geologist, who had examined and reported favorably on several southern Appalachian tracts to a similar examination in New Hampshire. Such examination, covering about six weeks in July and August, 1911, afforded no basis for a favorable report. Previous to this time, however, and to provide against the possible failure of the work of the geologist, stream-flow studies were started consisting of accurate rainfall and run-off observations on various areas, in order to compare the rate and volume of flow in the streams draining de-forested and burned areas with those draining tree-covered tracts.

The work is still in progress and the time within which a definite report can be made depends upon the weather; that is, if during the spring the fluctuations are sufficient to afford information as to the relative behaviours of the streams running from the selected areas, a definite showing may be made on which an early report may be based. If, on the other hand, the weather conditions do not produce sufficient contrasts, the investigations must be prolonged.

HUNTING RHINOCEROS.

[Stewart Edward White, in American Magazine.]

Nearer and nearer we crept. The great beasts were evidently basking in the sun. The little pig eyes alone gave any sign of life. Otherwise they exhibited the complete immobility of something done in granite. Probably no other beast impresses one with quite this quality. I suppose it is because even the little motions peculiar to other animals are with the rhinoceros entirely lacking. He is not in the least of a nervous disposition, so he does not stamp his feet nor change his position. It is useless for him to wag his tail; for, in the first place, the tail is absurdly inadequate;and, in the second place, flies are not among his troubles. Flies wouldn't bother you either if you had a skin two inches thick. So there they stood, inert and solid as two huge brown rocks, save for the deep wicked twinkle of their little eyes.

Yes, we were close enough to "see the whites of their eyes," if they had had any; and also to be within the range of their limited vision. Of course we were now stalking, and taking advantage of all the cover.

Those rhinoceros looked to me like two dreadnaughts. The African two-horned rhinoceros is a bigger animal, anyway, than our circus friend, who generally comes from India. One of these brutes I measured went five feet 9 inches at the shoulder, and was 13 feet 6 inches from bow to stern. Compare these dimensions with your own height and with the length of a motor car.

The Blazer Sweater.

The new blazers for athletic wear are in sweater style. A white sweater striped with dark blue and with dark blue bands on pockets, collar and cuffs is shown here. Such a sweater may be worn with a skirt of dark blue serge or mohair, or with a white serge or ratine skirt and white buckskin boots with pearl buttons. A knitted cap matches the sweater.

SUPERSENSIBLE.

[Bishop Henry W. Warren, in Independent.]

The harp is ever singing to itself
In soft and soullike sounds we cannot hear;
The stars of morning sing, and soundless words
Make God's commands run swift from sphere to sphere.

Each flower is always sending incense up
As if in act of holy worshiping,
Till fragrant earth is one great altar, like
To heaven where saints their prayer-filled censers swing.

The stars send out a thousand rays, writ full
Of mysteries we cannot read nor see,
Of histories so long, and goings forth
So vast, the volumes fill infinity.

Celestial presences have walked with man,
Alluring him to Nebo's lofty height;
Transfigured forms in tender light, too oft
Invisible to our low range of sight.

O Source Divine of things so fine and high,
Touch all Thy children's souls with power to see
That vibrant earth and air and boundless sky
Still throb with immanent divinity.

WORK THAT TELLS.

Plenty of it Has Been Done Right Here in Newport.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Newport. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. How can any Newport sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. S. E. Freeman, 52 Van Zandt Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I still consider Doan's Kidney Pills a fine remedy and am glad to confirm the public testimonial I gave in 1908 in their praise. A relative was troubled a great deal by backache and there were other symptoms which left no doubt that his kidneys were disordered. He did not rest well and was stiff and lame upon arising in the morning. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, a supply was procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and they gave satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

RHODE ISLAND MEASURES IN CONGRESS.

Senator Wetmore and Representative Utter have presented respectively to the Senate and House the resolution of the General Assembly in favor of the erection of a light ship at the north entrance to Block Island, and supplemented them with bills providing an appropriation of $140,000 for this desired aid to navigation.

Representative Utter also introduced in the House a bill appropriating $100,000 for the erection of an immigrant station in Providence, in response to the demands of the situation as outlined in a letter to Mr. Utter from Governor Pothier.

Representative Utter also introduced a resolution providing for the payment of $1,557.50 to Assador M. Der Hohanession of Cranston, as reparation for the unlawful detention of his wife at the Ellis Island immigrant station by the authorities. She was later released, after the government had first decided to deport her, and then concluded that they would not be justified in doing so.

NEWPORT COUNTY AND THE STATE ROADS.

The state roads bill has passed both branches of the legislature and Newport county is left out in the cold, so far as any considerable share in the expenditure of the $600,000 which will be derived from the authorized bond issue is concerned. The people of this county still feel that they have not been treated fairly in this matter and that more of the money should be spent in this vicinity than is provided under the bill. It is felt that no such discrimination as was embodied in this measure should be countenanced by the legislature, but of course it is recognized that the representatives of a single small county have no power to compel the others to do the right thing. So far as this appropriation for the construction of new state roads is concerned the matter is settled and Newport county must be content with a very small portion, though there are roads here which are of great importance to the state and are used by people from all sections, who would derive much benefit from their improvement.

As was pointed out in The News a few days ago, there is still other money available to the board and a fair share of this ought to be used on the roads in this part of the state. It would be an injustice to deprive Newport county of all money for highway improvement this year and it is not believed that this will be done. It, however, behooves the representatives from this section and those who live in this vicinity who have influence to keep in close touch with the board and secure some attention to the roads in this county. These will suffer greatly if neglected and should be kept in good condition, and something should be done also toward the construction of new roads, to connect and continue those already built by the state. There is plenty of money for these improvements yet available and Newport county is entitled to a fair share of it; indeed, to a larger share than ordinary, because it has been refused any considerable part of the sum to be derived from the new bond issue.

THREE CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

The legislature has taken final action on another important matter in the passage of the bill dividing the state into three Congressional districts. This measure, which was made necessary by the action of Congress in giving Rhode Island an additional Representative, was presented in a form which aroused some opposition from the Democrats, though this was half-hearted at the most. Some members of that party, both outside and within the legislature, frankly said there was little if any fault to be found with the division, as it had been made about as fair as it could be under the imperative condition that the three districts should be as even as possible in population. The opposition was more to the manner of the division than the result, it being claimed by the Democrats that the bill was drafted by the Republican state committee. That criticism was probably well grounded, though those who made it did not follow it by any claim that even if so drawn it was unfair to any marked degree.

Hereafter the state will have three Congressmen, and under that condition it ought to be frequently the lot of this city to furnish one of the trio. Newport is still in the First district, but associated with it is quite a different territory in some respects from the old. This city has had the distinction of supplying a Congressman for the district quite often in the past and its opportunity to do so should be greater in the future, and it is quite ready to furnish suitable men to hold that position. So far as the political complexion of this new district is concerned it is quite generally agreed that it will be normally Republican but in case of any special displeasure with that party or any particular favor of the other it could easily go Democratic. Hence both have a fighting chance here and it will be debatable ground, which will undoubtedly work to the advantage of the people by compelling the selection of good candidates for the position of Congressman.

THE LEWIS CASE.

The American Bar Association cannot afford to deny membership to a lawyer of good standing on the sole ground that he is a colored man. Still less can it afford to drop from its rolls, as though he had been guilty of unprofessional conduct, a man against whom the only objection which can be made is that he is a colored man.

Strictly social relations are of course entirely within the discretion of each individual. In a social way no white man need eat or drink with a colored man if he does not wish to do so. But all professions and lines of business are open to all men regardless of race, color or previous condition of servitude, and professional associations are not features of private and personal society; they are semi-public. They are not clubs from which any man may be excluded if the members do not like him, and it is no one's business why they do not like him. He may be a negro, or he may have red hair, or he may weigh 500 pounds and be too hard on the club furniture. A doctor, however, who is competent and respectable is entitled to membership in a medical association, and a lawyer who is competent and respectable has a right, by virtue of his professional standing, to membership in a bar association.

Mr. Lewis's appointment was probably political; so is the appointment of most civil officials. He was in the United States district attorney's office in Boston and acquitted himself creditably. He was appointed an assistant Attorney General, probably because the administration felt it important to conciliate the colored voters. There was no doubt that he was a respectable lawyer, having for some years held a public office before being appointed to his present high position. Now the executive council of the American Bar Association undertakes to strike his name from the roll because of objections to the membership of a man of negro blood.

The objection comes too late; it comes about 50 years too late.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY.

In a late Century Magazine Mr. Whelpley, in writing of German commercial progress, says he has talked with many Germans from the highest to the lowest and nowhere found eagerness for war with England or belief that war is likely. He denies specially that Germany has any political ambitions connected with the German emigration to Brazil.

A writer in the Atlantic Monthly, whose name is not given, appeals to our government to unite with England and Germany in dropping the Monroe Doctrine and in recognizing German colonization schemes in Brazil, but Mr. Whelpley cites two German ambassadors to this country, Count Bernstorf and Count von Sternberg, as virtually recognizing the Monroe Doctrine. Within a few weeks Berlin despatches said that the German government had warned the Pan-German Union not to be too conspicuous in raising money for the relief of German settlers in Brazil who were victims of floods, lest its activity should give a political aspect to the German emigration to Brazil and disturb American sensibilities.

It is by no means certain, as is glibly assumed by the anonymous writer in the Atlantic, that Germany is seeking to set up a German state in South America. There is abundant reason to believe that Germans have no hostility to England and contemplate no war upon her though Englishmen are in a highly nervous state over the nightmare of a German attack. Two years ago there was a religious convention in Germany, attended by a large number of Englishmen, one of whom contributed to the Hibbert Journal the results of his efforts to find any war feeling in that country. He was thoroughly convinced that there was no German animosity to England and no purpose of war.

England has been embittered by German success in commercial expansion and for several years has been dreaming of a descent of Germany upon her coasts. Germany has vast commercial ambitions, but there is no evidence that she is planning conquests or even a colonial empire which will bring her into conflict with us or with England. Last summer she is reputed to have moderated her tone toward France over the Moroccan affair because the Berlin bankers assured the emperor that the country could not afford to fight. There is no substantial foundation for the English apprehensions.

Judge John Taggard Blodgett made his mark on the high court bench of Rhode Island by his careful research and study into historical matters which had a bearing on questions at issue, by his positiveness in his decisions, and by his demands for reforms in the conduct of the court which have since become a part of its deliberations. He was a man of strong personality, best liked by those who knew him best, and an earnest, conscientious, upright judge.

The members of the Colt family in Rhode Island are still anxious to have a representative in the United States Senate. Judge Le Baron B. Colt is already mentioned as a candidate to succeed George Peabody Wetmore when the latter's term expires a year from today. It is full early to talk about that now.

So far as the state central committee can express it, the sentiment of the Republicans of Rhode Island is unanimously in favor of the re-election of President Taft, and the committee is not far from right. There are comparatively few Roosevelt men in this state.

A Providence astronomer announces that there will be a total eclipse of the sun visible in this locality in 2024, but none of us will be here to see it. It is only about once in 320 years that there is an opportunity to see an absolutely total sun eclipse in this locality.

Even William Jennings Bryan condemns a third term as President, and that is where the Nebraskan has the advantage over the man at Oyster Bay.

One year from today President elect——will be inaugurated in Washington.

LUXURIES AND THE COST OF OCEAN TRAVEL.

[Hampton Magazine.]

The many cafes on board a modern liner have the atmosphere of the boulevards. The old, long baronial board, presided over by the captain, to which passengers were summoned by bell or trumpet has given way to separate tables at which one is free to dine, lunch or sup alone, at any hour, in any seat at any one of a hundred small tables, seating two, or to join a party at a table seating seven, all surrounded by decorations that rival those of the best restaurants ashore. And as in any first-class hotel, the guest is not restricted to a table d'hote menu, and can order from an epicure's bill of fare—but on shipboard all meals are included in the price of the passage. Cafes for those who do not smoke, a new convenience, have the air of such places in Vienna. These are distinct from the open-air veranda cafes with their teakwood tables.

Instead of the salt meats of 20 years ago, both cabin and steerage passengers have fresh meat daily. Twenty-eight thousand pounds of meat and 15,000 liters of beer were consumed by the passengers of a single North German Lloyd liner on one recent voyage, while on the same ship the cost of setting the table for a single year was $4,000,000.

Ah, it is the expense, then, that deters you? This talk of de luxe accommodations sounds expensive? But you do not need to take these expensive cabins unless you are willing to and can pay for them. All the other comforts, conveniences and luxuries are as free to the porest traveler as to the richest, and not the least interesting fact about ocean travel is that its cost is constantly growing less.

The voyage to England now costs on the best ships about half the rate charged by the Brittania, the first mail steamer to cross the ocean, 70 years ago. One can go first class for three cents a mile; second class for half that, and third class—with better accommodations than the best in the Brittania's day—for about 80 cents a hundred miles, and these rates include meals. Compare them with the standard railroad passenger costs and meals in the dining cars or station eating houses extra.

WHY ANGER SHORTENS LIFE.

[Tit-Bits.]

"When we are pleased the pulse is strong; when we are displeased, weak. The same thing holds for breathing. If an experience is pleasant, we breathe more deeply; if unpleasant, less deeply. In joy we breathe in great breaths; in sorrow our breathing is short and weak. When we are pleased we are stronger muscularly—we can put out more strength—than when we are displeased. We feel stronger, and are stronger, than usual when we are heartily and justly angry (pleasant anger). Grief bows us down, crushes us, leaves us physically weaker than ever."

Thus Dr. E. B. Tichenen, in his Primer of Psychology; and his views are partly borne out by Dr. Maurice de Fleury, the well known authority on brainstorms.

His view is that every time we are angry our vitality shrinks so much in proportion for every outburst. In fact, Dr. de Fleury asserts that each bout of anger, each rush of evil passion, cuts off a certain portion of the life we should enjoy if it had not happened. "Every time a man gets angry," he says, "he shortens his life by so many minutes, or days—perhaps even years. A great deal depends on the intensity of the anger."

BUILDING A LOCOMOTIVE AN HOUR.

[Cassier's Magazine.]

The Schenectady plant of the American Locomotive Company is the largest and most important of the nine plants of that great corporation and is one of the oldest locomotive manufacturing concerns of the country. It was established under the name of the Schenectady Locomotive Engine Manufactory in 1848, and except for a few shutdowns, due to temporary depressions in the business, has been in continuous operation since that time. Its history, therefore, covers almost the entire period from the time locomotive building was first begun in this country.

At present the plant covers 65 acres of ground and comprises 44 buildings. At full capacity, the employes number 5,000, who, with their families, constitute, conservatively estimating, a total of 18,000 people, or practically one quarter the present population of the city, who derive their support from these works.

The American Locomotive Company has the largest output capacity of any corporation of its kind in the world, and can turn out one complete locomotive for every hour of each 10-hour working day a year.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Governor Pothier Denies Reports and Insists He is for Taft.

New Johnston School Superintendent a Native of the Town— Chauffeur Thrown Down Bank.

"I am for Taft," declares Governor Pothier in commenting upon an announcement put out from the national Roosevelt headquarters in Washington denying a statement issued in behalf of Taft last week that the Rhode Island executive had committed himself to the President's candidacy. When the news from Roosevelt headquarters was communicated to him, Governor Pothier said: "My telegram of endorsement of President Taft was perfectly quoted. I am for Taft." The governor's telegram to which he referred and the authenticity of which the announcement from Roosevelt headquarters attempted to discredit, was as follows: "President Taft is a safe man at the head of the nation. His administration has been able and statesmanlike in the broadest sense. His record entitles him to a re-nomination. In which event he should receive a most emphatic popular endorsement." The governor declined to make any further comment on the Roosevelt statement or to talk concerning Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy, other than to repeat: "I am a Taft man."

I. Lester Nickerson, a native of Johnston and a graduate of Brown University, has been elected superintendent of the public schools in Johnston. He succeeds Rev. William H. Starr, who suffered a shock recently and has been forced to relinquish the office after many years of service. The change takes effect April 1. Mr. Starr has been confined to his home several weeks, and although he is apparently regaining his health was advised not to attempt such arduous work as his position as head of the Johnston schools would cause. Mr. Nickerson was graduated from the Manton grammar school in 1899, Classical 1903, and Brown 1907. He was principal of a nine-room grammar school in New Hampshire, and then went to St. Johnsbury, Vt. At the opening of the term last September he went to the Central high school at Springfield, Mass., teaching Latin and mathematics. He was not seeking the office, but through relatives it was learned that the position would be agreeable to him, particularly as it would give him a position i nhis native town.

Hurled down a 15-foot embankment to the Warren river, where the ice prevented him from plunging into the water, Frederick Mulry of Providence, a taxi driver, narrowly escaped death Saturday when the machine which he was driving crashed into the fence and a telegraph pole near Kelley's bridge in Warren. It is believed that he was injured internally, but no bones were broken. As Mulry drove on the causeway leading to the bridge his machine suddenly swerved to one side, crashed into a telegraph pole and fence, and he was sent hurtling through the air. He alighted on the ice 15 feet below, where he lay stunned and bruised. The crash as the automobile struck the iron fence aroused persons living near, and several rushed from their homes to the assistance of the man. He couldn't walk, but was carried into the power station of the Bristol County Gas and Electric Lighting Company near by and later removed to his home. The machine was smashed almost to kindling wood, and had it not stuck between the pole and the fence would have gone over into the river.

At least three of the 12 Central Falls men who parted with some 200 patches of skin from their arms in an endeavor to aid their friend, former Councilman William Banks of that city, are now suffering considerably, and at least one of them has blood poisoning. Mr. Banks was suffering from blood poisoning of one arm, and Sunday, February 25, at St. Joseph's Hospital, 12 members of the West Side Republican Club of Central Falls went to the hospital and submitted to an operation in order that the skin removed from their arms might be placed on that of Mr. Banks. As a sequel Fred Chatterton was also taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday night. He parted with 15 pieces of his skin, which were grafted on Mr. Banks's arm. Ever since then Mr. Chatterton's arm has been kept bandaged, just as it was left by the operating surgeon, according to Mr. Chatterton. The orders were to keep the member wrapped up for a week. When the bandage was removed Sunday it was found that his arm had swollen badly and that blood poisoning had developed. Although their condition is not as serious as Mr. Chatterton's, Alderman Peter Clare and Thomas Kitchens, two other of the 12 who went through the ordeal, have been suffering more or less the past few days, as the result of the skin-grafting operation.

The Treasury Department has notified Congressman Utter, in response to his recent conference looking to the use of Westerly granite in the proposed new federal building in that city, that the call for bids, issued late in February, does not make it obligatory for builders to bid only on a marble structure, but that bids both for marble and granite may be submitted. Supervising Architect Taylor is of the belief that, because of the style of architecture used in planning the building, marble would be more suitable, but has intimated that if possible he will heed the wishes of the citizens of Westerly and have granite used, as it will conform to a local public building in the vicinity of the federal building site.

Sixty more acres of the historic Mount Hope lands at Bristol have passed into the possession of Robert H. Katzman of Boston, who purchased the Governor Bradford farm about a month ago. The new property adjoins the Governor Bradford farm on the north, includes a portion of what has been known as Mount Hope Park and is on the east side of Mount Hope, skirting the shore of the bay. It was purchased from the Mount Hope Reservation Company and Mary Sexton of Fall River.

The old building at Turk's Head, Providence, passed out of existence as a business structure Saturday, when the last store closed its doors. Wreckers have begun work on razing the old landmark, most of the big plate glass windows being removed and the lights disconnected. Already the interior on the second and third floors is being rapidly dismantled and this week the destruction will begin on the roof and walls. The men are finding a hard task in tearing the structure apart for it was erected at a time when buildings were made to stand for years, and the work entails arduous labor in removing the boards from the uprights.

Henry L. Johnson, for years a resident of Pawtuxet and a prominent figure in the political affairs of the town of Warwick, died at his home in Pawtuxet Saturday, being 80 years old. For 16 years Mr. Johnson served as assessor of taxes in Warwick and also for 10 years on the school committee. He worked at his trade continuously until about a year ago, when he became ill. His record over the anvil is considered equal to that of almost any blacksmith Rhode Island has produced, extending, as it has over a period of 60 years.

Dr. Frank G. Burnett died suddenly at his home in Pawtucket Sunday afternoon, following an attack of heart trouble, caused by a nervous breakdown from which he had suffered for the past four years. He had been improving somewhat in the past few months, but received a shock in the sudden death, from heart failure, of his twin brother, Dr. Fred N. Burnett, Attleboro, 10 days ago. He was born in Dudley, Mass., in 1850 and educated in the Dudley Academy, after which he entered Vermont Medical School, remaining two years and leaving to enter the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York, from which he graduated. He began practice in Windsor, Conn., and after a four years stay removed in 1882 to Pawtucket, where he remained until his death. He was a member of the Rhode Island Medical Society, the Pawtucket Medical Club, the To Kalon Club and of the Masonic order, holding membership in Connecticut.

The Providence police made an official visit to the office of D. H. Tolman & Co. Saturday afternoon and made two arrests on warrants charging evasion of the usury law. At a special session of the Sixth District court, held by Judge Frederick Rueckert, the defendants pleaded not guilty and were placed under $300 bail each to appear for trial March 15.

President Howard Edwards, of the Rhode Island State Agricultural College is in Washington to attend the hearings on the Lever bill providing for agricultural extension work.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, March 4.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Unsettled, probably snow tonight or Tuesday, continued cold; increasing, northerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

An area of marked high pressure overlies the northern border of the country. The weather is fair, with much clear sky in northern districts, except the upper Mississippi valley where snow flurries are reported. Cloudy and unsettled conditions prevail in southern and Middle Atlantic states and a centre of relatively low pressure is central off the Carolina coast. A depression still exists in the Southwest. The temperature is below the seasonal average in all except the southern tier of states. The lowest in New England last night was 20 degrees below zero at Northfield, Vt. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 24, Boston 14, Washington 24, Jacksonville 54, St. Louis 20, Chicago 16, St. Paul 10, Des Moines 18, Kansas City 24, San Francisco 50 and Portland, Oregon 38.

GRAND JURY OUT.

Court Unable to Adjourn in Respect to Judge Blodgett.

Cases Called for Assignment After Announcement of His Death.

At 11:15 this morning Judge Lee took his seat and the March session of the superior court opened with a full attendance. There was an imposing array of counsel, including former Congressman Sheffield, and Mr. Lewis A. Waterman of Providence. Mr. Heathman of Providence made his first appearance, and was welcomed by members of the Newport bar.

Candidates for grand jury duty were called as follows: Daniel Shea, George W. Clarke, John H. Whitmarsh, William H. Reagan, Patrick Vaughan, John W. Crouin, Leander N. Vaughan, William Freer, Daniel E. Harrington, Moses Ash, Patrick J. Barrett, George A. Eddy, Samuel M. Booth, Jr., Newport; James F. Martin, Frederick J. Fish, Portsmouth; Thomas E. Borden, Oliver Durfee, Tiverton; Edward J. Peckham, Harold R. McFarland, Little Compton; G. Adolphus Clarke, Jamestown; Samuel Chambers, Middletown, William A. Sprague, Herbert A. Wills, New Shoreham.

George W. Clarke was not present and Moses Ash failed to appear. All others were apparently present. Upon the latter's seats without audible response to the roll call. The court made inquiry as to Moses Ash. G. Adolphus Clarke desired not to serve. He is 72 and was told his duties would consist in drawing pay for the day, after which he would be at liberty to depart.

Second Assistant Attorney General Phillips examined each of the remaining men called. Mr. Piper gave a middle initial and said he is a driver. The list called for a waiter with no middle name. The court questioned if the right man was present. Piper said he changed his occupation two years ago, and there is no other man of the name in the city.

Patrick J. Barrett said he was taxed for $100. This was destined to eliminate him, but he raised it to $200 personal, with tax paid, and was accepted.

George A. Eddy to some questions answered that he was deaf. It was evidently no trumped-up excuse, for it was necessary to shout several times at him before he could be made to understand that he was excused. Samuel Chambers proved to be Samuel M. Chambers, but said there is no other Samuel Chambers in the town, and was accepted.

Mr. Piper said he authorized his family to pay his tax; he couldn't say who paid it. The court decided to rule him out.

Moses Ash then appeared and after some sharp questioning by the court as to his failure to arrive on time was examined and accepted.

The court appointed Mr. Sprague foreman and, "strictest silence" on penalty of imprisonment having been proclaimed, addressed the grand jurors. He said the law requires every county, at stated times, "to clean house." The jurors' duties are double. If they are remiss, anarchy will result; and they also have a duty to the accused. If a grand juror knows that some offense has been committed it is his duty to make it known, that evidence may be brought in. If there is rumor, even, of some offense, it may be a grand juror's duty to bring the matter to the attention of his fellow-jurors, that there may be an investigation. Every juror has the right to question any witness before the grand jury. At least 12 must concur to find an indictment.

Attendant Romes escorted the grand jury out at 12:05.

Immediately there were three vigorous raps of the officer's gavel and those trained to court etiquette instinctively jumped to his feet. Ordinarily they would have been followed by the court withdrawing, but the court made no motion to do so and there was wonder what it could mean. Mr. Phillips took a moment to announce that all criminal cases will be in order Wednesday at 9:30 A. M. and then the court announced that he was sorry to say that news had reached the court house that Mr. Justice Blodgett of the supreme court had died in Providence this morning. Judge Lee then declared a recess and withdrew. The grand jury being out, the court had no power to adjourn until its return. There are about five known cases to investigate.

At 12:25 the court returned and cautioned members about not assigning cases for the latter part of the week, out of respect to Judge Blodgett. The assignment docket was sealed.

City of Newport vs. John P. Caswell et al. was passed. Several others were passed or continued. Nothing was said about the Washington Street Boulevard case.

Henry Clews vs. Grafton D. Cushing et al. was set for hearing April 1.

Dennis Shanahan vs. Henry J. Hass was set for trial March 18.

Nathan David vs. J. K. Sullivan, March 19.

Flink & Son vs. M. Friedman, June 5.

Sullivan vs. Newport Coal Company March 21.

State vs. Harry Landers, March 14.

John A. Leary vs. Benjamin A. C. Boyd, March 12.

Jeannette Peckham vs. Old Colony, continued to April 1.

James Anthony vs. Boyd et al. was set for June 5.

Joseph Sullivan vs. Thomas Barton, March 20.

Hiram Jones vs. Mary Ray, March 22.

Ralph Wood vs. Mary Rogers, executrix, June 5.

In John T. Whitsell vs. Dottie A. R. Whitsell a new citation was ordered.

Mr. Heathman for Mr. Mitchell, called up the divorce case of Willis Woodson vs. Cecilia Woodson. It had been amended and new service made. The court gave decision for petitioner.

Catherine Johnson vs. Annie Johnson was set for March 14. It may not be acted.

There was a mix-up as to the four cases disposed of case of Mirman vs. Berman over a surplusage of counsel. The court cut the Gordian knot, and if being claimed that a principal witness is in the South the case was continued.

Mr. Heathman was in a situation about the divorce case of Jose Luiz Ventura vs. Maria de Rosario Ventura. Respondent is in one of the Azores Islands and petitioner is off on a job. Nobody could say at once. The papers need changing to suit the long-distance service. The court quickly arranged it.

At 12:52 a recess to 2 P. M. was taken.

DEATH OF MRS. NATHAN T. CHAMPION.

Mrs. Catharine A., wife of Mr. Nathan T. Champion, died Saturday at her home on Gould street, after a long illness. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker and had many friends throughout the city. Her husband was for many years chauffeur for Mr. W. Watts Sherman and is still employed by Mrs. Sherman in that capacity. He is a son of Captain and Mrs. William Champion. Two children, a daughter 12 years old and a son six years old, survive the mother.

ARMY DISPATCH AUTOMOBILE.

Captain Stanley Lewis of the Arizona Mounted Police Here in The Mitchell Ranger.

Captain Stanley Lewis of the Arizona Rangers drove into Newport Sunday night at the wheel of the "Mitchell Ranger" army dispatch automobile, which carried the trans-continental message last year from General Leonard Wood at Governor's Island to General John F. Weston at San Francisco. The car bears marks of its strenuous experience, the seal of the United States emblazoned on its battered hood and a Colt rapid-fire gun of the latest pattern projecting its nose above the dashboard, making it the centre of a crowd on the arrival at the Perry House.

Captain Lewis holds a commission in the Arizona mounted police and is on a leave of absence, the Ranger's patrol duties having been taken over by the regular army temporarily. He is known also as a writer of military stories and has had many experiences which form the basis for some of his magazine tales, including participation in the battle of Cananea in August, 1906, when the Rangers and Mexican Rurales fought a mob of 5,000 rioting and murderous peons protecting American mining property owned by Colonel Greene. He says Uncle Sam has 25 duplicates of the Ranger now in active service.

ARMY AND NAVY BUSY DAYS.

Music and Athletics Saturday, Bible Study, Luncheon and Church Service Sunday.

Saturday was an unusually busy day at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association. In the early hours of the afternoon the men were entertained by R. Brighton at the piano and A. Perkins who seemed to be able to play "any old rag" on his violin. In the evening an athletic contest was held between Fall River, City and Army and Navy Association teams. After three hours of hard work the heroes from Fall River were leading, while the City Association was second.

Sunday the Bible class was held as usual at 4:30. Lever conducted the song service, while R. Brighton played the piano. Shortly after 5 the men divided into classes and discussed this question: "Can a Man know that he is saved? The study over, the men returned to the first deck and found a wholesome lunch awaiting them. Lever sang a vocal solo and the boys seemed to be able to eat better after he had finished. A yeoman followed Lever with a violin solo and there was another piano solo. At 7:30 the men attended the First Methodist Episcopal Church in a body.

FOR A HOYT SCHOLARSHIP.

Gift of $2,000 to Brown Fund from the Providence English High School Alumni.

The Brown University endowment fund is increased $2,450 by today's announcements and now amounts to $748,771.50. The greater part of this addition comes from a contribution of $2,000 from the Providence English High School alumni. This is to be known as the David W. Hoyt scholarship in Brown University. The fund has been in process of collection for several years, with the idea of ultimately turning it over to Brown University. In view of the growth of the endowment fund it has been thought best not to wait longer, but to place the money at once in the university treasury. The income is to be forever used toward the payment of the tuition of a graduate of the English High School in Providence while pursuing his studies at Brown University, the holder of the scholarship being designated by the principal of the school.

The next largest contribution, $250, is in memory of Alfred M. Williams, a member of the class of 1860 and for many years editor of the Providence Journal. The list of gifts today is as follows:

English High School Alumni:	$2,000.00
"In Memory of Alfred M. Williams"	250.00
Dr. Augustus W. Calder	100.00
An Alumnus	50.00
Arthur E. Cameron	25.00
Rosseau M. Dexter	20.00
Rev. George M. Beecher	5.00
Previously announced	746,321.50
Total	$748,771.50

ONE SHOT FIRED FROM EACH.

Ordnance Test of Big Rifled Mortars at Fort Adams, After Being Re-Mounted.

An ordnance test of the big 12-inch rifled mortars at Fort Adams was in progress this afternoon, eight of the 16 pieces in Batteries Greene and Egerton having been re-mounted on re-constructed carriages and being tested by a shot from each. The expensive armor-piercing shell were not used, but full charges of powder with cheaper shells were substituted to prove the mounts to be in serviceable condition.

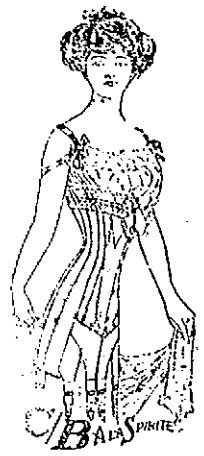

The re-mounting of the pieces has been a work contemplated for years and various parts have been on the ground for practically that length of time. Some of the mounts have been going from bad to worse rapidly and last summer several of the pieces were to declared to be in an unserviceable condition.

MINIMUM WAGE THE ISSUE IN ENGLAND.

The question at issue in the coal fields of Great Britain can be stated in a few words. A demand has rapidly been forced to the front in the mining districts for "a district minimum wage." It was accepted at the Southport conference last October as the official policy of the Miners' Federation—a minimum wage for every man and boy employed in a coal mine. The agitation arose out of the old grievance about "abnormal places." The miners say that their wage-earning power ought not to be prejudiced by any exceptional difficulties which delay them in getting the coal, such as faults in the seam and the like. That claim is reasonable enough and its essential justice is not denied by the coal owners. The coal owners, however, do argue that if they are to give a minimum wage the miners ought to guarantee a minimum output, and this point may play an important part in the negotiations for peace.

If the miner's working place is good and yields a comparatively large output his wage is a fair one, but, owing to the appearance in the working place of abnormal physical difficulties, the standard earnings of a collier may fall very low. In such cases the practice in many mines is to supplement the wages earned on tonnage rates by allowances determinable generally by colliery officials; but this practice does not always give satisfaction, and complaints are heard from both sides. This is the sore point, known as the "abnormal places problem."

FALL RIVER THE WINNER.

Leads Both Local and Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. in Three-Cornered Athletic Meet.

Fall River carried off the honors in the three-cornered athletic meet at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association Saturday evening. Reynolds was the star man and heavy point scorer, winning each of the five races in which he entered. Karl Squires, representing the City Association, did the quarter-mile in 57 seconds, which is considerably less than the previous record at the Army and Navy. Lieutenant McNair covered the mile run in 4 minutes 55 3-5 seconds, which also breaks the previous record established here for this event. The Fall River team made 34 points, the Newport Association was second in the scoring with 26 points, and the Army and Navy third with 17. The summary:

Running high jump—Reynolds of Fall River, first; Burr of Fall River, second. Three of the Newport Association men were tied for third place, Bowler, Warden and Durfee. Height, five feet 2 inches.

Three standing broad jumps—Reynolds, first; Milne, Army and Navy, second; Schutt of Fall River, third. Distance, 30 feet, 7½ inches.

Mile run—McNair, City, first; McLeod, Army and Navy, second; Snell of Fall River, third. Time, 4 minutes 55 3-5 seconds.

100-yard dash—Reynolds, first; Warden, City, second; Schutt, Fall River, third. Time, 12 and 1-5 seconds.

15-yard dash—Reynolds, first; Parks of Fall River, second, Mount, Army and Navy, third.

220-yard dash—Reynolds, first; Warden, second; McNair, third. Time, 28 2-5 seconds.

12-pound shot put—Ruggles, Army and Navy, first; Sullivan, City, second; Miller, Army and Navy, third. Distance 37 feet.

Potato race—Townsend, City, first, Mount, Army and Navy, second; Cortean, Army and Navy, third.

The Newport Association carried off the mile relay race, the team being made up of Jennings, Wyllie, Squires and McNair. The time was 3 minutes, 2-5 seconds.

The officials of the meet were: Referee, Dr. Seth De Blois; starter, O'Neill; judges, Brighton and Johnson; timers, Farnum, O'Connell and Harry; scorers, Anderson and Farnum.

The prize for the winning team was a neat banner, which the Fall River manager said would make a fine ornament in their gymnasium. Ribbons were also distributed to the individual winners of the various events.

GIRL MADE LUXEMBURG RULER.

Grand Duke William Alexander Succeeded by His Eighteen-Year-Old Daughter.

By the death of William Alexander, Grand Duke of Luxemburg, an 18-year-old girl will become ruler in his place.

The dead ruler of this little principality also held the titles of Duke of Nassau and Count Palatine, with about a dozen other minor German qualifications. He was the son of the Grand Duke Adolph and succeeded his father in 1905. He was born April 22, 1852, and was married in 1893 to Marie Anna, Infanta of Portugal. He leaves six daughters and no son.

The grand duke had been ill for the last four years and his wife has been acting as regent of the Grand Duchy. He will be succeeded by his eldest daughter, the Grand Duchess Marie, whose other names are Adelaide Theresa Hilda Antonetta Wilhelmine. She was born in June, 1894.

At a time some years ago, when it seemed likely that Queen Wilhelmina of Holland would be childless, she designated this young grand duchess as heir to the throne of the Netherlands and was about to ask the Dutch States General to pass the necessary legislation to this end. Shortly afterward, however, the hopes of the Dutch people for a direct heir to the throne were gratified by the birth of the little Princess Juliana.

During the recent negotiations in regard to Morocco and the Congo between Germany and France, rumors became current that Germany proposed to annex the Belgian Congo in the near future with the consent of France and England. By way of compensation, the story goes, Belgium is to be allowed to gobble the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg.

Luxemburg is a state of 998 square miles in the angle where Germany, France and Belgium meet. It has about 250,000 people. From time immemorial it has been an appanage of the House of Nassau. It was therefore virtually part of Holland, though separated from it until the death of Queen Wilhelmina's father in 1890. Then it followed the male line to the father of the grand duke just dead. In 1907 the succession in the female line was instituted by a family statute.

RACING SCHEDULE FOR 1912.

Annual Regatta of the New York Yacht Club Set for June 13, Off Glen Cove.

The New York Yacht Club's racing schedule for the year has been posted at the club house. The first event is the annual regatta, set for Thursday, June 13, off Glen Cove. Second on the list is the Glen Cove cup, Saturday, July 6. The cruise rendezvous follows, Wednesday August 7, or Thursday, August 8. The autumn series winds up the season, and includes the Sound cups, sailed for Thursday September 5, off Huntington or Glen Cove, and the Autumn cups, Friday, September 6, off Huntington or Glen Cove.

The annual regatta will begin the season well. The racers will then be in commission and still in the waters about New York, so that the fleet must be well represented. Following the cruise there may be other races, not now mentioned, possibly for the Brenton's Reef Challenge cup, held by schooner yacht Karina, owned by Mr. Robert E. Tod, and the Cape May Challenge cup, which is again in the possession of the New York Yacht Club, and becomes an open event at its next offering, which will probably be officially made at an early day.

Mr. Morton F. Plant's schooner Elena will early be in the thickest of the racing strife, and her antagonist of last season's cruise, the Westward will surely again meet her and have something to say about the schooner which shall stand at the top of the list when the season ends. Mr. Alexander S. Cochran, owner of the Westward, can hardly let her remain out of commission when the Elena's "hat is in the ring."

The superb Enchantress, owned by Mr. W. E. Iselin, and the Irolita, Mr. F. Walter Clark, will be raced, and their performances must be of note; also schooners Katrina, Scimitar, Miladi, Sea Fox, Endymion and Thermina and the big auxiliaries Atlantic, Intrepid, Karina and others.

Of sloops can be counted the Aurora, Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and the Isanela, Mr. George M. Pynchon. The duels between these boats will be interesting and the third of the class, the Winsome, may be brought out.

Also in the sloop list are the Avenger, Mr. Daniel Bacon; Shimna, Commodore Paine; Adventuress, Mr. C. C. Rumrill; the new sloop being built at City Island for Mr. H. G. S. Noble; the Joyant, Commodore Childs; Corinthian, Mr. Howard C. Smith, and scores of others which always loyally help out the season admirably.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

Miss Clara Perrin of Pawtucket, who has been with Mrs. J. Overton Peckham since January, has returned home.

A number from out of town are planning to attend the men's turkey supper at the Methodist Episcopal Church, this annual event proving a sort of social reunion, owing to the usual large attendance.

Mrs. Ermina A. Farnum of Worcester, Mass., was guest of relatives in town Sunday.

The March entertainment in the Epworth League course will be an interpretive reading of "Fanchon, The Cricket on the Hearth" by Miss Mabel Stark of Boston.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Captain Patterson's motor boat Oriole is hauled out at the shipyard.

—Barges Fuller and Cora have arrived for the Newport Coal Company with 1,500 tons of coal.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman were guests over Sunday of Mr. Louis L. Lorillard.

—Mrs. William B. Fletcher returned Saturday from an extended visit in Washington and other cities.

—The pleasant weather has caused the barges anchored in the harbor for good weather to start on their way.

—Mrs. William Grosvenor and Miss Rose P. Grosvenor were guests Sunday of Miss Rosa Anne Grosvenor.

—Mr. Preston Gibson of Washington will soon go abroad with Mr. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and will visit Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt in London.

—The fishermen have gone out again and with this sort of weather there should be some fish. The only arrival Sunday was the veteran Captain Christian Luth, who had one barrel.

—Rev. Gustavus A. Hulbert, pastor of the United Congregational Church, gave an address before the Literary Society of the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon.

—Acting Boatswains Fred Rasmussen and Joseph Speri, recently appointed, to date from February 19, have been ordered to the Constellation, under instruction in their new duties.

—The police [illegible] this morning was brief; [illegible] drunkenness, fine paid. Sunday there had a respite from a possible [illegible] case, the man being released in the morning after escaping freezing.

—Miss Minnie Block left today for Newark, N. J., to arrange with the president of a Jewish temple to accept a position as teacher for children and social and educational organizer for the women of the temple.

—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., her daughter, Miss Muriel Vanderbilt, Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, and her daughter, Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, are at the Hotel Poinciana, Palm Beach, Fla., for an indefinite stay.

—Steamer Rhode Island, formerly of the Fall River line, arrived Sunday at New York from New London and work will be begun at once to convert her into a fertilizer and fish oil factory. The Rhode Island was built at Noank, Conn., in 1882.

—Captain Elijah G. Davis, who quietly observed his eightieth birthday at his home on Gardner's Neck road, South Swansea, Mass., Friday, is one of the retired captains of the Fall River line, who is still very much in evidence about his home, despite his advanced age.

—The Greeks are preparing for the coming lobster season and among the final preparations is the building of a number of new skiffs for the work. The lobster pot building industry has thrived all winter, the making of necks has gone on and generally the Greeks will be found ready to take the pots out April 15, if the weather is favorable.

—Captain Walter Loring has gone to New York to complete the sale of ferryboat West Side, which has been secured by a man running three ferry lines across the Hudson near Tarrytown. It is expected that a number of changes will be arranged and that the work will be done at the shipyard here before the boat leaves for New York.

—Captain Andy Sullivan, the popular third baseman of the recent Newport base ball team, was in town Sunday for a short visit. Last season he played only on Saturdays, the serious illness of his mother preventing playing regularly. He says Catcher Eddie White, who was drafted by the Chicago White Sox, has been sent to Des Moines and that Cambria made good in New York state, batting hard and doing good work.

MIX-UP AMONG DELEGATES.

Scramble Among Southern Republicans for Administration Favors.

Roosevelt Men May Bolt—National Organization Hopes to Prevent Some of the Squabbles.

[Washington Correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—With Roosevelt a willing and receptive candidate against President Taft we may expect to see the worst mix-up about Southern delegates that has ever appeared at a national convention, or that will be "going some."

Never before was there any greater scramble among the Southern Republicans for the good things of a federal administration than at the present time. It was about as bad as could be imagined in 1896, when Mark Hanna's agents went through the South and captured nearly every delegate. Frank Hitchcock repeated the operation in 1908.

It is believed that the administration, having the federal office holders firmly in hand, will be able to repeat the Hanna performance of 1896 and the Hitchcock copy of 1908, but the "outs" see an opportunity to make a strong play by going behind Roosevelt and contesting every state and district. They may be able to make trouble at Chicago. It is true that the national committee will apply the same steam roller methods adopted by Hanna in 1896 and Hitchcock in 1908, but there is another consideration which may make them pause.

It is possible that the Roosevelt men will not stand for any such methods, and the Roosevelt delegates may walk out of the national convention and nominate a ticket of their own.

Secretary William Haywood has been sent South by the Republican national committee to see if he can straighten out some of the tangles that arise in that section over the selection of delegates to the national convention. Realizing that the quadrennial row over these delegates has become a disgrace to the Republican party, the national organization hopes to prevent many of the squabbles if possible. But it looks as if there would be more instead of less at the coming convention.

Lunn is a great sheep raiser. He is said to make $100,000 a year out of the business. He knows that he cannot delegate his sheep business even to the best overseers, and so he prefers his $100,000 a year to the salary of a Senator and such honor as the position may give him.

Senator Heyburn has no use whatever for any minority which disagrees with him. He objects to those minorities on the elections committee which seem to think that there was corruption used in the election of Senators Lorimer and Stephenson. The views of the minority in one case were under discussion, and Heyburn declared:

"No more annoying and useless proceeding was ever indulged in than printing the dissenting opinion of a judge of a court. They ought not to be published in the opinions of the Supreme Court. They merely afford quibbling grounds for quibbling lawyers."

The Kern and O'Gorman ticket, sometimes called the "whiskers" ticket, affords considerable amusement in the Senate cloakroom.

"I am going to vote for this child labor bill," remarked Senator Kern.

"I am sorry to hear that," said Senator O'Gorman, "for I am going to vote against it. However," he added after a pause, "I suppose it is a good thing for our ticket to play both ends of the game."

Judging from the number of telegrams received from states producing lead and zinc the men engaged in those industries are very much alarmed. Most of the petitions and memorials from Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Montana, Nevada and several other states are against the Underwood bill, which greatly reduces the duty on these products.

Our slang has led us into saying many strange things. Former Senator Wilson of Washington was a witness before the committee considering matters relating to fisheries. Senator Poindexter of the same state was a member of the committee. Reference was made to the year 1890, when Wilson was defeated for the Senate.

"They weren't canning salmon that year, were they?" asked Poindexter, with some emphasis.

"No, they were 'canning' statesmen that year," replied Wilson, and, with considerable significance, adding "And they'll 'can' some more in the near future."

WARSHIP TRIES NEW COMPASS.

Adoption by the Navy Will Depend Upon Successful Working on Trip of the Utah.

When battleship Utah sailed from the Charlestown navy yard Saturday for her final trials, she carried the navy accountancy board, who will watch the working of a new gyro-compass with which the battleship is equipped. At the conclusion of the trip the committee will submit a report relative to the adoption of this compass used in connection with the mariner's compass.

BROOKLYN CLUB'S FUTURE HOME.

President Ebbetts Turns First Spadeful of Dirt on New Grounds.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Work on the new playing grounds and stadium of the Brooklyn Base Ball Club began this afternoon, when President Charles Ebbetts turned the first spadeful of dirt. The future home of the Brooklyn club, which is to be known as "Ebbetts' field," is now nothing but a waste of lots and a motley collection of huts and cottages but President Ebbetts hopes that before the coming playing season is over he will be able to open up his park as a rival to the playing fields in Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago and other cities. Leading citizens and base ball enthusiasts were invited to attend the ceremonies.

TOWN MEETINGS BEING HELD.

Annual Election of Officers Also Taking Place in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, March 4.—More than 200 Massachusetts towns held town meetings today and in many places the annual election of officers also took place. In a number of towns the license question was the issue at stake, and a large turnout of voters was expected as the result of strenuous campaigns during the past few weeks. Local improvements and appropriations held the attention of the citizens in many towns. Women all over the state took opportunity of their privilege to vote for members of the school committee and in some instances female voters sought places on that board.

TO ABANDON THE YANKEE.

The War DOepartment Will Probably be Notified to Remove or Destroy the Craft.

It is probable that the Yankee will be formally abandoned by the Navy Department and stricken from the navy list. She was wrecked three years ago and repeated efforts have been made by the department and by a contractor to raise the vessel. It has come to be realized that something must be done to take the Yankee out of the track of commerce. The War Department will probably be notified to remove or destroy the craft, which work will be done by the army engineers.

The Yankee was landed high and dry on Hen and Chickens rocks in a fog, and after a long job by the Arbuckles was floated off by means of compressed air, and while being toward to New Bedford sank near the entrance to that harbor, was partially floated and finally abandoned.

MISSIONARIES WELL AND SAFE.

Disturbances at Tien Tsin Reported as Having Ended.

BOSTON, March 4.—"The disturbances are at an end. Missionaries are well and safe." This was the text of a cablegram received today at the headquarters of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions from Rev. C. E. Ewing the board missionary at Tien Tsin. The despatch is interpreted by board officials as indicating that in addition to disturbances being ended, there is no occasion for fear of any further outbreak of lawlessness at Tien Tsin.

STATE DEPARTMENT NOTIFIED.

The Disaffection of General Orozco Definitely Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Definite confirmation of the disaffection of General Pascual Orozco from the Madero government in Mexico reached the State Department in a delayed telegram from American Consul Summers at Chihuahua. Summers said that Orozco's resignation from the federal army had been announced February 25 to become effective March 1.

RARE GAME FOWL.

Many Specimens Brought From Asia, Africa and Europe for American Settlement.

One thousand and one specimens of rare game birds from a dozen countries of Asia, Africa and Europe and the islands of the East were brought into New York on steamship Minnewaska, from London, recently. The birds are destined for Oak Park, Illinois, where they are to be bred and distributed throughout the United States by Samuel Evans and his son Wallace, who brought them to this country. Recently they were exhibited in London, where the Zoological Society gave the use of the lake and houses in Regent's Park to rest the birds preparatory to their journey across the Atlantic.

In the collection on the Minnewaska were ducks from Lake Baikal, while other specimens came from Formosa, Japan, Egypt and Victoria Nyanza, as well as from Holland and other parts of Europe. The specimens from Victoria Nyanza in the heart of Africa are a sort of wood duck and were obtained by an expedition of large size which spent months in the jungle trapping them. There are a dozen varieties of these ducks, besides other rare birds from the same region—all blonging to species that the sportsman knows as game birds.

From Formosa the expedition collected many specimens of that island's rare feathered creatures, while Japan was called upon to furnish a large number of swans, geese and ducks of Japanese breed. In the collection also are descendants of American wood ducks sent to England for breeding by Evans several years ago.

Evans said that he had been very successful in breeding prairie chickens both on his farm and in captivity in England, and that in the last-named country the American bird was growing in favor and rapidly supplanting the grouse and pheasant for hunting. He added that the prairie grouse was growing so scarce in the West that he believed that very shortly breeding pairs would be worth $25 apiece. In England there are many shooting preserves stocked with them, and the Americans who hire moors for a season go over there and shoot American prairie chickens on English and Scotch covers.

LITTLE RESPONSE TO OFFER MADE.

Mills May be Forced to Close if Increase is Declined.

Action Desired as Second Step Toward Fulfilment of Demands.

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 4.—The striking textile workers maintained most of their strength when the mills opened today, despite the overtures of the manufactures in the form of a five per cent increase in wages. There are still more operatives out of work than there are in the mills.

Picket lines, totalling over 5,000 persons, paraded Essex street and the approaches to the mill gates for an hour and a half, but there was no conflict with the police. The test that was expected today between the organized strikers, as represented by the pickets and the deserters from their ranks, did not materialize, owing, it is believed, to the fact that those workers who are satisfied with the five per cent increase in pay decided to await today's action before resuming their places. Trouble had been expected and a number of operatives, who, except for this belief would have returned to work, remained at home. Whether they will decide to go back to the factories at noon today or tomorrow morning was uncertain, but the police and city authorities provided against the possibility of trouble in case there should be a large return of employes.

The great crowd that formed the endless chain of pickets on Essex street was a happy one and there was little evidence of hard feeling. Few attempts at intimidation were noticed and there were no arrests in the early morning. Two young men were detained by the police. One of them had in his possession a quantity of pepper, a razor, a knife and the other had two weapons. They were released after it was apparent that no disturbance was likely.

Unless there is a great response within a few days to the mill owners' offer, it is thought by city officials and others that the mills will have to shut down. This development would greatly please the strike leaders and is what William Hayward and other leaders have been working toward for weeks. All their plans during the progress of the strike have been shaped in this direction. Such action would be regarded by them as the second great step toward a fulfilment of the demands of the strikers, the initial step being the decision of the mill operators to grant one third of the original demands of the strikers.

The classes of workers who went to work today for the first time since the strike began comprised 1,000 persons, and included mule spinners and wool sorters as bodies, some loom fixers and operatives at the Arlington and Pacific mills, who are organized under the Central Labor Union. These men voted last Saturday to return today. The working force at the Arlington and Pacific mills showed the largest increases in workers of any factories, and the four mills of the American Woolen Company received the fewest additions to the working force.

Mayor Michael A. Scanlon, acting commissioner of public safety in the absence of Commissioner Cornelius F. Lynch, who is in Washington at the strike hearing before the Congressional hearing and Acting City Marshal J. J. Sullivan supervised the disposition of about 350 policemen today.

Shortly after 7 o'clock, James P. Thompson of Chicago, general organizer oft the Industrial Workers of the World, dashed out of his lodgings at the corner of Lowell street and Broadway and ran, scantily clad, a short distance down Broadway to a harness shop. Entering the shop, he declared that an attempt had been made on his life. A blanket was wrapped about him and he was taken in an ambulance to the Hotel Needham, where a doctor dressed two wounds on his head. The wounds, though not serious, were declared by Thompson to have been made with a blackjack, by two men who entered his room this morning. According to the story he told the police, Thompson retired at 10:30 p. m. Sunday and was awakened at 7 a. m. today by a knock at his door. He opened the door and two men came into his room. The men, he says, were middle aged and heavily built, and one had a closely cropped, dark mustache. Without any word of explanation, according to Thompson, the men attacked him, hitting him twice over the head with a blackjack. The weapon caused abrasions and bruises on the right side of the forehead. Thompson said that he struggled with the intruders and finally broke away from them and dashed from the room. As he was leaving one of the men fired at him, but the bullet missed its mark.

Thompson said that in his opinion the intruders were Americans and he seemed quite positive that they were not foreigners. Thompson's landlady said afterwards that three men went up to Thompson's room and that in her opinion they were Greeks. A revolver was found by the police in an alley way in the rear of the Marlborough chambers, where Thompson lodged.

When Thompson was asked by police inspectors if he knew why he should be attacked he replied, "No, unless it is for the same reason that Vincent St. John was shot two years ago."

Vincent St. John is an officer of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Continuing, Thompson said, "Certain persons do not like union men because they can not bulldose us." At this point, William D. Haywood, the Western labor leader, who had entered the room, said to Thompson "Don't talk too much."

Haywood explained to the police that he thought Thompson should not talk too freely unless his counsel were present.

Haywood said he was well satisfied with the "magnificent exhibition of solidarity" displayed by the strikers. He claimed that the ranks of the strikers had been augmented by many persons who had been at work, but who were disappointed at the small advance in wages offered.

Three foreigners were arrested in the Pleasant Valley section of Methuen charged with carrying concealed weapons. The police encountered about 30 men apparently on the way to do picket duty, and when an attempt was made to disperse them three of the crowd refused to obey orders. Revolvers and other weapons were found on them.

THREE LOSE THEIR LIVES.

Other Occupants of Boston Tenement House Escape During a Fire.

BOSTON, March 4.—Of the 70 persons who were driven from their 20 rooms at 465 to 469 Hanover street, when a fire broke out there at dawn today, all but three reached the street. The building is a four-story brick structure, nearly a century old, with the usual small stores in the street floor and tenements above.

The fire was under good headway when discovered in one of the stores, and the first firemen on the scene had to pay more attention to effecting rescues than to fighting the flames. The rooms on the three floors above the street were crowded with humanity, mostly foreigners. Ladders were quickly raised and a dozen women were taken down, besides several children. It was believed that the rooms had been cleared when the department started to put out the fire. When the smoke had been partly blown out, the building was explored and the bodies of a man and woman were found on the fourth floor. Shortly afterward one of the firemen stumbled over a body in a dark alleyway in the rear. It was evident that a man had jumped from his room on the fourth floor. There were some signs of life then, but death came on the way to the Relief Hospital.

TWO KILLED; A NUMBER HURT.

Fire Breaks Out in a Four-Story Apartment House in New York.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Two persons were killed, three fatally injured and a dozen others less seriously hurt in a fire which mushroomed its way through a four-story apartment house at 207 East Fifty-Third street, shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. The blaze spread through the entire structure so quickly that there were only a few moments for the hastily awakened tenants to attempt escape. A score of them were rescued by policemen and firemen at great risk. One of those fatally burned is a fireman, Charles Martin, who pushed his way through the flame-swept corridors to an upper floor and saved Miss Eliza Parry.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, March 4, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 67¾. American Beet Sugar 55⅝, American Smelting and Refining 73¾. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 104¾, Baltimore & Ohio 102⅛, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 79½, Canadian Pacific 226½, Chesapeake & Ohio 72⅜, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 107¼, Erie 31¾, Great Northern preferred 130¾, National Lead 54½, New York Central 111½, Northern Pacific 118, Pennsylvania 122¾, Reading 154⅞, Southern Railway 28, Union Pacific 164½, United States Steel 61⅛, United States Steel preferred 105¾.

10—With scarcely an exception prices opened lower in the stock market. Union Pacific, Reading, United States Steel and other active issues made fractional declines, with a loss of 1⅛ in Canadian Pacific. The copper shares and allied stocks were heavy and the market as a whole reflected the depressed feeling in London resulting from the coal strike situation.

11—The many adverse factors prevailing found further reflection in the dragging undertone of the first hour. Prices showed some tendency to harden, but the movement as a whole was narrow and purposeless. Some of the specialties scored further gains, but the strength of the issues failed to elicit more than passing interest.

Noon—For no other reason, perhaps, than the circulation of rumors suggesting an early settlement in the English strike, the market became active and strong before noon under the lead of Reading, Steel and St. Paul sold above last week's best prices and other active stocks greatly improved their early position. The movement comprised several of the high class specialties, including Sears Roebuck, which gained 2½, General Electric 1⅝, and American Beet Sugar 1⅝. American Tobacco was off 1 and American Snuff 2 points. Bonds were irregular. Money on call steady at 2⅝ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $230,837,084; balances $12,695,107.

THRONG OF BUYERS CONTINUE.

Special Half Price Brings Many Patrons to Hall & Lyon Co.'s.

The people of Newport and vicinity appreciate the great advantage Hall & Lyon Co. obtained for them, in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to allow the regular 50 cent size of Dr. Howard's specific, for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, to be sold at half price, 25 cents, and have bought hundreds of bottles.

Unlike ordinary medicines for constipation and dyspepsia, the dose of Dr. Howard's specific is reduced after a few days' use, and the cure is soon complete and lasting.

If you have not already taken advantage of this chance to get a month's medical treatment for 25 cents, be sure to call at Hall & Lyon Co.'s today, for they have only a small amount of the specific on hand.

PRIZE AND CUP AWARDED.

City Basket Ball League Closes Its Season's Business, With Decrease in Admissions.

At the meeting of the City Basket Ball League Sunday afternoon the business of the season was closed. It was supposed that the St. Joseph's management would protest the game played recently between the Galahads and the Algonkins, but it was found before the meeting that the protest had been withdrawn.

Mr. Walter Sullivan moved that the champions, the Algonkins, be presented with the Beeckman prize and the Dr. Doran cup and this was carried. This is the second time the Algonkins will have their name on the Dr. Doran cup and they must win it only one more year to claim it as their personal property. President Brown was authorized to look after the engraving of the cups. There will be no public presentation of the cups this year; they will just be turned over to the manager of the winning team.

Mr. Slocum of the Young Men's Christian Association moved that the various managers give a vote of thanks to the league officials for the fair-minded way in which they have given their decisions at all times and complimented both Mr. Brown and Mr. Johnson, the secretary. This was made a vote. It was voted also to thank the advertisers in the booklet and the Newport Daily News and Herald for notices in their columns. The secretary was directed to write a letter of thanks to the Father Mathew Society and to the Young Men's Christian Association for the use of their rooms for meetings during the year.

The total paid admissions were not so large as last year, but at the beginning of the season they were good; when the Naval Reserves dropped out they started to take a slump. After this few games brought in more than $50, except the first game at the armory, when nearly $65 was taken. The following are the receipts and the expenses of the league during the season:

Expenses.

Paid Referees	$129.00
Advertising	66.93
Printing booklet	41.00
Ball score book	7.95
Stop watch whistle	3.25
Postage	.27
Engraving cup	1.00
	$249.46

Receipts.

Entrance fees (six teams)	$60.00
Ten per cent gate receipts	95.52
Fines on players	8.00
Advertising in booklet	50.00
Assessments of $5 per team	$25.00
	$247.52

The money taken by the different teams was as follows: St. Joseph's $302.90, Algonkins $145.50, Father Mathew $272.50, Young Men's Christian Association $54.00, Galahads $93.10, Naval Reserves $64.30 for one game, making a total of $956.20.

The post-season series between the Father Mathews and the St. Joseph's will be started this week, best two of three games, the winners playing the champion Algonkin team.

ROBERT EMMET DAY.

United Irish Societies Observe Occasion Sunday with Speeches and Entertainment.

March 4 is Robert Emmet day, a date which in recent years has been generally observed by the patriotic Irish societies in this section as commemorative of the struggles of Ireland for freedom, St. Patrick's day being regarded more as a national and religious day. The United Irish Societies of Newport observed the occasion Sunday in Father Mathew hall, which was well filled by members and friends, including women. Thomas F. Martin, chairman of the committee of arrangements, presided and introduced the speakers. Rev. Father Ryan of St. Mary's Church, an eloquent and pleasing speaker, gave a short and interesting eulogy on the day and on Emmet, and Representative John B. Sullivan delivered a carefully prepared address on the life and death of Robert Emmet which drew forth frequent bursts of applause.

Besides the speakers there was a pleasing entertainment of Irish songs by some of the local singers. Miss Grace Morris sang "The Meeting of the Waters" and "Believe me if all those endearing young charms." Mr. Charles H. Gifford gave "Where the River Shannon Flows" and "The Wearing of the Green." Miss Alice C. Donovan "Kathleen" and "Off in the Silly Night." Mr. Thomas B. Crowley "Let Erin remember the days of old" and "The Minstrel Boy." The latter especially appropriate to the feelings of the meeting. Miss Edith Albro sang "The Song that reaches Irish hearts" and as the concluding of the speaking Miss Morris gave "Kathleen Mavourneen" and "Kitty of Coleraine." Mrs. Sadie Mullen accompanied on the piano as capably.

Seated on the platform besides the speakers were Mayor Bolan, Alderman Leidy, Burgess Albro and Hughes, Mr. Thomas Pell and Mr. J. A. Sullivan.

During the afternoon Mr. Brick offered a resolution protesting against the proposed arbitration treaties with England and France and it was adopted by the meeting.

CAUGHT SELLING LIQUOR ON SUNDAY.

Sunday night Officer Lesson, on West Broadway, noticed a woman receive something from a window. He had strong suspicions, and on asking the woman what had been done he found these confirmed, for she acknowledged that she had just bought a half-pint of liquor, which had been passed out to her. The officer took the bottle and later the premises, 56 West Broadway, from which the goods were passed were visited and a jug containing two quarts of liquor seized. The premises are supposed to be occupied by Harry Visco.

THE FEAST OF PURIM.

Commemoration of Deliverance of the Jews, from Massacre, by Esther.

Observed at the Touro Synagogue With Entertainment by the Hebrew Children.

The Purim celebration, or the Feast of Purim, which is described in the book of Esther, was observed at the Touro Synagogue Sunday evening. This is the commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews from a massacre throughout the great Asiatic empire of which Ahasuerus was King, due to the intercession of the beautiful Jewess, Esther, who had become the king's wife. The name Purim means "lots," as Haman, the king's favorite grand vizier, who swore vengeance on all Jews because of the refusal of Mordecai the Jew to bow before him, is said to have cast lots for the day of the massacre, but owing to Queen Esther's beauty and fondness the order of massacre was withdrawn upon her request to the king. Ever since the Jews all over the world have marked the event with entertainments.

At the local synagogue the Feast of Purim was observed with an entertainment which was a great success, due to the training by Miss Minnie Bloch, daughter of Rev. Dr. Bloch, under whose supervision the Hebrew children were instructed. Miss Bloch is known here and in New York as a teacher, author and writer, and has an important position in the Hebrew Orphan Asylum in New York.

Mr. Max Levy, president of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel, gave the opening address in which he spoke of the principal value of the Hebrew school and its education and of his pleasure in seeing how enthusiastic the children were over this feast and their religion.

The following numbers were then given:

Mandolin, violin and piano selection, "The Dream Girl," Mrs. B. Richard, Miss A. Jacobs and Mr. M. Jacobs.

Purim poem, Lottie Moskowitz, Esther Kosh, Matilda Kravetz, Zella Podrat, and Ida Frant.

Violin and piano selection, "Martha," Miss Ida Josephson, Mr. J. Josephson.

Essay on Purim, Gertrude Rosen.

Vocal solo, "Neapolitan Serenade," Mrs. M. Levy, accompanied by Mrs. H. Zeldman.

"Do you know how many stars," Edith Moskowitz and Rosie David.

Talking Pictures, "A Purim Tale"—"Illustrator," Lillian Bloch; "Mother," Lillian Aronson; "Father," Emmanuel Billard; "Son," Edwin Josephson; "Purim Spiehler," children of the Hebrew school.

Vocal solo, "Fear ye not, oh Israel," Miss Ethel Aronson.

"Purim," George Herz, Stella Levy, Vernon Stoneman, Eugene Josephson, Florence Prinz, Mollie Meirowitz.

Violin and piano, "Sanatella," Miss Ida Josephson and Mr. J. Josephson.

Recitation, "The Bird's Song," Harry Moskowitz and Rosie Teitz.

Vocal duet, "Juanita," Mrs. Max Levy and Miss Sadie Bloch.

Piano solo, "Tannhauser," Frances Levy.

Sketch, "The Feast of Esther," with the cast as follows: Ghost of Queen Esther, Ethel Josephson; ghost of Ahasuerus, Samuel Frant; ghost of Haman, Julius Prinz; ghost of Mordecai, Elmer Bloch.

Vocal solo, "Al Hanisim, The Miracle of Purim," Rev. J. Bloch, cantor of the Touro Synagogue.

Closing remarks by Rabbi M. Eckstein on the Spirit of Judaism, praising the children for the excellent work they are doing in the Hebrew school.

"Hatikvoh" by the children of the Hebrew school, under the direction of Rev. Dr. Bloch.

Gifts were given to the children after the entertainment.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A birthday party was given Saturday evening at the home of Miss Elsie Nicholsen on Thurston avenue, at which about 24 young people were present. Until 10 o'clock they played whist, Miss Hattie Luth and Mr. Christian Nielsen winning the first prizes, while Miss Marian Christiansen and Mr. Peter Nielsen took the consolations. After the whist the guests sat down to a well set table and had refreshments, one of the features being a large birthday cake with the hostess's name on top. Games were played for the rest of the evening, piano, violin and mandolin selections being given by Miss Rosie Eckhart, John Petersen and William Christensen and a song by Henry Wilkinson.

BOATSWAIN WILLIAMS TO BE BURIED IN BROOKLYN.

In addition to Chief Boatswain Welch calling the news of the death of Boatswain Harry Williams to the Naval Base, Boatswain Birney in Halliwell, who is also on the Asiatic station, having recently been on duty here, called Chief Boatswain Christopher J. Cooper, who has made several calls on the mother. The wife of the deceased is buried in Brooklyn and the present intention is to lay his body beside hers, but it is quite improbable that the remains will come to Newport at all. The local organization will make arrangements to be represented at the funeral, which will not take place for about two months.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Congregation Jeshuat Israel at the Touro Synagogue Sunday morning the following officers were elected.

President—Max Levy.
Vice President—Israel J. Josephson.
Treasurer—Lozar Herz.
Secretary—Abraham Nelson.
Trustees—Max T. Z., David Frant, Alexander S. Weise.

Mr. Levy was elected president for the fifth consecutive year.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew recently organized in Trinity parish has elected the following officers:

Director—Daniel P. Boone.
Vice Director—Albert P. Jones.
Treasurer—Edward W. Lawton.
Secretary—Dudley F. Hughes.

ASKING FOR PROPOSALS.

Board of Commissioners Inviting Prices on Bonds for the Various Sinking Funds.

The board of commissioners of the sinking funds is asking for proposals for bonds for the various sinking funds of the city, aggregating $107,000, to be distributed as apportioned as follows: $30,000 for the Newport City Fund, $35,000 for the Newport Fund for Aged Persons, $22,000 for the Ellen Townsend Fund, $20,000 for the Judah Touro Ministerial and Cemetery Fund. The bonds asked for must be of the issues stated, must be registered as to both principal and interest and must be delivered to the sinking fund commissioners without any expense whatever above the purchase price, and the prices submitted must be flat without any commission added thereto. The bonds will be delivered to the commissioners not later than Friday, March 15. They are as follows:

For the Ellen Townsend Fund—$5,000 City of New York 4's of 1956; $5,000 Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway general mortgage 4's of 1989; $5,000 Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad general mortgage 4's of 1958; $5,000 Illinois Central Railroad first mortgage 4's of 1951, $4,000 of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad bonds in this lot to be delivered to and paid for on May 15, 1912, at the price quoted in bid, the interest to accrue to seller until that date.

For the Judah Touro Ministerial and Cemetery Fund—$1,000 Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Company first and refunding mortgage gold 4's of 1961; $4,000 Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway first mortgage 4's of 1949; $4,000 City of New York 4's of 1956; $4,000 Commonwealth of Massachusetts 3's of 1941; $4,000 Northern Pacific Railway general lien 3's of 2047.

$4,000 of the Northern Pacific Railway bonds in this lot to be delivered to and paid for on May 1, 1912, at the price quoted in bid, the interest to accrue to seller until that date.

SPARKS ON A SHINGLE ROOF.

Fire at the Everett Street Residence of Edward S. Peckham Does Considerable Damage.

At 1:25 o'clock Sunday afternoon Chemical 1 and Hose 5 were called to the home of Edward S. Peckham on Everett street to extinguish sparks on the roof. It did not take long to decide that more men and ladders than respond on a still alarm would be required and Box 29 was pulled. The roof seemed to be pretty thoroughly peppered with sparks and the whole southern slope appeared to be ablaze. The smoke which arose from the burning shingles was sufficient to be seen from some distance. A stream from a hydrant put out the surface fire quickly, but for some time after the recall sounded at 1:45 the firemen were engaged with the chemical stream and axes, assuring themselves that the boarding and the few shingles left did not harbor sparks, to be later fanned into flames.

A wood fire was doing duty in the parlor fireplace, to add cheer to the little gathering present, and it would appear that this emitted through the chimney a liberal amount of sparks, which found fertile resting places on the shingled roof. Today the roof is made as storm-proof as possible by the spreading of a liberal quantity of sailcloth, but it is hoped that a big wind will not occur while it is doing duty.

The use of the hydrant stream, which was necessary at the beginning, caused a little water to go into the house, but the interior damage is comparatively slight. There is little doubt, though, that had it not been for the presence of Assistant Chief Bosworth on the street at the time this loss would have been greater. It was he who saw the unwisdom of depending upon a still alarm detail and saved time in the pulling of the box.

At 4:35 Saturday night Chemical 1 was called to extinguish one of those Long Lane grass fires which occur once or twice a year.

This morning at 7:55 the down-town apparatus was called to the residence of Rev. Dr. E. H. Porter on Bellevue court, for a chimney fire.

GAMBLING AND LIQUOR SELLING.

Social Evils of Newport Discussed at the Y. M. C. A. Meeting Sunday Afternoon.

The theme at the Young Men's Christian Association meeting Sunday afternoon was "Social Service," the question for open discussion being "What are Newport's Community Needs?" General Secretary Chapin acted as leader and spoke at some length on the topic. He said this is an opportune time to encourage people to take up the political, social and economic problems of the world, which were never more interesting than now. Religion and science are united today as never before. Mr. Chapin told again what the Men and Religion Forward Movement aims to do. It looks upon all phases of social work which make for better society, as Christian work. Christianity and real social service are inseparable.

Among the social evils to be found in this city Mr. Chapin mentioned, first, gambling and suggested watch committees and counter attractions as a means of abolishing it permanently. Next was liquor selling both legal and illegal. He suggested as a remedy ward option and county reduction. Indecent shows and public dances are social evils which may be combated by proper supervision of the theatres and dance halls. The press and the moving pictures can be great educational factors for better society.

Mr. W. D. Goddard spoke for a few minutes, saying his thought was "Doing something for some one." Mr. H. R. Wood favored the closing of stores on Sunday and suggested that it would be a good thing if there could be a headquarters for filing reports of stores which do not comply with such an ordinance.

Selections were played by the Young Men's Christian Association orchestra during the session. Mr. Chapin announced that some of the delegates to the Boys' Conference in Fall River will address the Forum next Sunday afternoon.

BURIED BESIDE HIS FATHER.

Remains of Lieutenant Commander Thomas Interred at the Berkeley.

Large Gathering of Naval Officers for the Funeral Service at Trinity Church.

The remains of Lieutenant Samuel Brown Thomas, U. S. N., who died of pneumonia at Los Angeles, Cal., three weeks ago were laid beside those of his father, Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, U. S. N., in the graveyard of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, on the East Shore, Sunday afternoon. Full naval honors were paid, a battalion of four companies of bluejackets and band, with Lieutenant Cage in command, furnishing an escort from Trinity Church, where the services were held, to Green End, via Spring street, Broadway and Bliss road. At the cemetery there was in waiting another company, which had marched out in advance to give the final honors. It is something of a coincidence that both father and son died on the Pacific coast and are buried close to the shore of the Atlantic ocean.

The body did not arrive here until Saturday night, because a delay of nearly a week in crossing the continent, due to heavy snows. Accompanying the remains was the widow, the couple having been married as the officer lay on his deathbed, and Mrs. J. J. Mellus, the mother of the widow. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the deceased, and her youngest daughter were in Europe at the time of the death and arrived here earlier in the week. The remains lay in Kay Chapel over Saturday night.

There was a good number present at the church for the funeral service, the officers of the local naval station being fully represented, besides many civilians. The procession within the church comprised Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, the rector, the bearers, the body, carried by eight bluejacket body bearers, and the family. Captain Gleaves escorted the widow, Lieutenant Commander H. E. Yarnell, accompanied his mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas, and then came Mrs. Mellus, Mrs. Yarnell and Miss Ruth Thomas.

The Protestant Episcopal service was read, the choir sang a number of selections, the funeral party left the church and as the casket was taken to the hearse the escort, which was drawn up in line on Spring street, presented arms and dipped the colors. The bearers and under-bearers all took carriages, because of the distance to the grave. Before the cemetery was reached the Constellation guard, which was acting as the firing party, was overtaken.

Marching to the tap of a muffled drum the escort entered the churchyard, and lined up south of the grave. The rector, Rev. Lauts Griswold, met at the lych gate the body, which was escorted by the bearers, eight officers—Lieutenant Commander R. Z. Johnson, Lieutenant Commander T. C. Hart, Lieutenant F. H. Sadler, Lieutenant F. V. McNair, Paymaster J. R. Sanford, Surgeon R. H. Owen, Surgeon R. Buchanan and Major H. H. Dunlap. The gray casket covered with the flag and buried in flowers was borne by eight sailors. Following the committal service, read by Rev. Mr. Griswold, three volleys were fired by the detail, and the bugler, advancing to the head of the grave, sounded taps.

There was a wealth of flowers—Easter lilies, lilies of the valley, orchids, violets, pink and white roses, tulips, daffodils carnations, and sweet peas conspicuous among them being a large anchor the upper portion of which was violets and the lower daffodils. This was supported on a standard whose base was violets. A large wreath of white carnations and violets was laid on the grave of Admiral Thomas.

Among the naval officers present were noted Captain William L. Rodgers of the War College, Commander J. H. Dayton of the Training station; Captains W. McLean, William B. Fletcher, William S. Sims, and E. H. Ellis; Commanders N. A. McCully, William V. Pratt, F. H. Schoefield, C. T. Vogelgesang and Charles L. Hussey; Lieutenant Commander Yates Sterling; Lieutenants C. E. Wood, F. L. Oliver, J. N. Ferguson and J. H. Newton; Pay Director Lewis C. Kerr, Paymasters T. S. O'Leary and William N. Hughes, Medical Inspectors L. W. Curtis and F. S. Nash, Surgeons K. C. Mellhorne and A. H. Dodge, Chief Boatswains C. J. Cooper and John Davis, Chief Gunners Leonard Roll, C. Clay and T. B. Watson; Boatswains J. J. O'Brien and William Frengen, Pay Clerk W. D. Bolland. Among the retired officers were Rear Admiral F. E. Chadwick, General William Ennis, Colonel Joseph H. Willard and Pay Director J. Goodwin Hobbs. Many of the officers were accompanied by their wives and families and were in uniform.

ALL FROM ST. MARY'S.

Funerals Sunday of William F. Hallock, Michael O'Brien and Miss Sarah Buckley.

The funeral of William F. Hallock took place Sunday afternoon from the residence of his father, Mr. Cassius C. Hallock, on Thames street, to St. Mary's Church, the body being escorted from the house by Newport Council, Knights of Columbus. The Knights and the employes of the Acker, Merrall & Condit Company occupied seats reserved in the centre of the church. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Father Tierney. Mr. Charles F. Gifford sang "Face to Face," Mr. J. Frank Albro sang "Only Waiting" and the choir of the Knights of Columbus rendered the chant.

The burial was in St. Columba cemetery, the bearers being John J. Sullivan, John J. Connell, Patrick J. Connell and Daniel J. McCarthy, from the Knights of Columbus; and Andrew Dolron and A. W. Sleeper, representing the Acker, Merrall & Condit Company. The Knights of Columbus escorted the funeral procession as far as Equality Park, the remainder of the distance to the cemetery being made in carriages.

The funeral of Michael O'Brien was held Sunday afternoon from his late residence on Extension street to St. Mary's Church, where the service was conducted by Rev. Father Hines. Mrs. Katherine Gire-Burkinshaw and Mr. J. Frank Albro sang. The interment was in the St. Columba cemetery, the bearers being Gerrett Donohue and John O'Brien, nephews of the deceased; Dennis J. Sullivan, Daniel Roach, Michael Curley and Andrew Johnson. The members of the composing force of The Daily News, where a son is employed, and of the F. P. Carrettson Company where a son-in-law is an employe, were present.

The funeral of Miss Sarah Buckley was held also at St. Mary's Sunday afternoon after brief services at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Dowd, sister of the deceased, on Narragansett avenue. They were conducted by Rev. Father Reddy, pastor of St. Augustin's Church, and the interment was in St. Columba cemetery. The bearers were James F. Lowney, James K. Lowney, William Lowney and Patrick Ebbitt.

PROBATE COURT BUSINESS.

In the probate court this morning the will of William Watts Sherman was proved and letters testamentary thereon were granted to Sophia Augusta Sherman. The will of Moses H. Foss was proved and letters of administration with the will annexed were granted to Sarah J. Ferguson, of Lowell, Mass. Letters of administration on the estate of Elizabeth Skinner were granted to John D. Johnston. Notice was waived and letters of administration on the estate of John Dowd were granted to Martin F. Reddy. Letters testamentary on the estate of Emily A. Thorn were granted to Alexander Baring of Inde, Durango, Mexico, and Caroline T. Kisset of Morris, N. J., Frederick H. Paine being appointed agent in Rhode Island.

The petition for sale of real estate of the estate of Timothy B. O'Connell was granted, the petition for leave to sell personal property of the estate of George Cope at private sale, and the petition for change of surety on the estates of Thomas H., Mary H., Elizabeth B. and Annie R. Oxx were granted. The first and final account of the administrator on the estate of Thomas C. Carter was allowed and the balance ordered distributed to the heirs at law. The first and final account of the executor on the estate of Marie Louise Cranston was allowed and ordered recorded. The inventory of the estate of George Washington Turner was received and ordered recorded.

The first and final account with the estate of James Egan was continued for further hearing.

THE REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL MEETING.

The meeting of the Representative Council has been called for Tuesday of next week, March 12. At first it was proposed to have the meeting Monday evening and the Board of Aldermen made a request to that end, but in view of the fact that the School Committee meets regularly on that day Chairman Burdick suggested that the meeting be held Tuesday. On consulting Mayor Boyle he found that so far as the Board of Aldermen was concerned the change of days would not make any difference, so the meeting was fixed for Tuesday, March 12.

The reports of the Committee of Twenty-Five were finally all in the mail Saturday afternoon, the force at the city clerk's office working steadily until 4 o'clock to accomplish this. Some of those mailed early in the day were received Saturday and all should be received today. There are about 4,500 of these to mail, and it means some handling.
